WE NOMINATE

William Witt Lockwood, widely recognized as one of "the best-informed Americans in the turbulent sweep of Far Eastern Affairs" and a veteran scholar-teacher in the University's Woodrow Wilson School, who this weekend in Washington will be concludiog a congested year as president of the ever-growing Association for Asian Studies. Under the 58-year old Lockwood's leadership, this Johnny-Come-Lately among the country's scholarly organizations, filling a long-felt need for a meeting ground for students of Asia and drawing its officers from the ranks of specialists in government and education, has reached the point where it now claims over 2,500 members.

A native of Shanghai, where he was born while his father was serving as General Secretary of the American Y.M.C.A., Lockwood for three decades has sought to strengthen the West's understanding of the East Asian perimeter from Japan to India. Long before Americans learned to think beyond Honolulu, where last month he participated in an international conference at the East-West Center, he was helping carry forward the research undertakings of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which rendered invaluable service to American Armed Forces during World War II and yet in the early 1950's was subjected to scathing criticisms by the late Senator McCarthy and his committees.

During the World War II period, up until he returned to academic life here in 1946, Lockwood, a Phi Beta graduate of DePauw University and a Bowdoin College teacher for six years in the 1930's, filled a variety of governmental posts. He was first asked to serve as economic consultant to the Office of Export Control and later directed the preparation of a series of China Relief Studies for the Department of State. In 1943 he moved on to the Office of Strategic Services, holding forth as an assistant chief of the Far Eastern Division in its Research and Analysis Branch, but actually readying himself for two years of duty with the O.S.S. unit attached to General Chennault's 14th Air Force in China.

Deeply concerned with the political and economic development of the modern East Asia, and a prolific writer on such topics as "Politics and Social Change in Modern Asia," Lockwood has spent three of the past 11 years in Asia. In 1953 he toured several countries on behalf of the Ford Foundation in making a special study of its far-reaching fellowship training programs and returned again to Japan and India in 1956-57 on a research grant awarded by the Ford Foundation. Two years ago he was based on Japan as a Fulbright Research Scholar.

An advance copy of Lockwood's Presidential Address, which he will give in Washington Friday morning, confirms what might be termed his "global sense of history." For instance, he finds, the parallels between the late 18th and mid-20th centuries fascinating. "Then, as today, a great surge of technical innovation—the Industrial Revolution—was beginning to multiply enormously the productive powers of society, both for self-destruction and for new levels of well-being. Then, as today, a revolution in political ideals was linking up with economic and social changes to free masses of people from age-old structures of despotism."

For his devotion to "the mutual communication of knowledge" in establishing a new equilibrium between East and West; for seeing that free and dispassionate study will help the present sidestep some of the errors of the past; for his major contributions in urging others to cast aside their "romantic disregard" of realities in the Far East; he is our nominee as

HARMONY IN PRINCETON?

PAHR Leaders Are Hopeful.

As the fight for civil rights begins to fill more and more columns in daily newspapers, the sad fact of fighting within civil rights organizations becomes more and more a fact of contemporary life.

Here in Princeton, a threatened breach within PAHR — the Princeton Association for Human Rights — seems to have been healed. This does not mean that everyone has converted everyone else to his way of thinking, but most of those who were unhappy about PAHR have decided to remain within the organization and to use honest criticism as a constructive tool in forging a stronger civil rights group for Princeton.

On April 13, the new subcommittee chairmen — Irving Newlin, employment; George Goldsmith, education; Leonard Newton, housing; Mary Jackson, membership; David Hapgood, public relations. Thomas Caldwell, social action; Peter Pulnam, finance; Robert Sink-

When TOWN TOPICS began to publish 18 years ago this month, its circulation of 3,400 was higher than that of any Princeton newspaper. Today, for the first time, more than 16,000 copies of TOWN TOPICS will blanket the Princeton area — a figure close to 10,000 more than the next largest newspaper in town.

ler, recreation; and Daisy Woolridge, political action — will designate the goals they have set for the ensuing year and the plans they have for meeting those goals.

It will be an important and, in a sense, a "testing" kind of meeting for the new organization. (PAHR is less than a year old; it was founded in the late spring of 1963.)

Why? To over-simplify, the basic disagreement within PAHR lies in the different ways different people define action.

As an example, suppose a Princeton shop is accused of discriminatory practices. One group would argue that the case should be discussed openly and publicly, the name of the shop made public, with possible boycott and picketing involved. Another group would prefer to negotiate with the businessman privately, point out to him those sections of

New Jersey law that might apply and, by talking it out, arrive at the solution.

As a matter of record, PAHR members have solved problems of discrimination here in Princeton with considerable success by using the negotiating method. The cases haven't been published because that's part of the method, but the solutions have been real, even so.

However, men and women who have lived their lives on the wrong side of a ghetto society are understandably impatient. At the annual meeting of PAHR members in February and in statements written since, Frank Wells, 36 Birch Avenue, had this to say:

The Opposition. "I have lost unmeasured respect and confidence in the leadership of PAHR. The organization has become the most informed 'do-nothing' in the civil rights field.

"Is PAHR willing to discuss frankly and honestly the discontent not only of Princeton's Negro community but Negroes of our country? I expect an association such as PAHR to reflect the dedication, zeal and courage it takes to lead in a time of social revolution."

Mr. Wells is a late-comer to PAHR membership. Mrs. Alfred Kornegay, 31 Race Street, attended the first organization meeting of PAHR last spring and has been in the group ever since.

She believes — as does Mr. Wells — that PAHR has not succeeded in reaching Princeton's Negroes, particularly those who are unskilled and in the lower economic brackets of the community.

How Many Negroes? "The unskilled ones, with no kind of economic security — these are the Negroes that feel the pressures," Mrs. Kornegay says.

Mr. Wells, a committeeman in his election district, has pointed out that only about 100 Negroes belong to PAHR — fewer than the number of Negroes registered voters on Birch Avenue," in Mr. Wells' words.

Both Mr. Wells and Mrs. Kornegay were on a dissident Executive Committee slate presented to the PAHR membership at the annual meeting. About 20 members endorsed this slate which also included Thomas Caldwell, Beatrice Gregory and Leo Seidlitz. Only Mr. Caldwell was elected to the Executive Committee.

For a time, these 20 PHAR members considered breaking away and forming their own group, but they decided not to, and Mr. Wells has indicated that he will continue to give "moral support" to PAHR.

"I hope that by staying within PAHR, I can help it to set some definite goals," Mrs. Kornegay said of her decision. "PAHR needs a sense of direction toward all the Princeton people it hasn't yet begun to reach."

Definite Goals. The Rev. Albert Tyson, pastor of the Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. church and president of PAHR, is well aware of all these problems.

He and the organization are both very sensitive to Negro participation: the PAHR office is in the area where most of Princeton's Negroes live, and the organization's chief concern is to find jobs for Negroes.

"PAHR's responsibility is to open up avenues that have been closed before — employment and housing, for example," Mr. Tyson says. "We want to integrate Negroes fully into the democratic process, so that each person can realize his own best. The way to do this — well, there are many viewpoints."

PAHR's strongest emphasis has been on employment. Committee members are in constant touch with employers in the Princeton area. Several Princeton firms have asked for Negro applicants. In the nine months that PAHR has been in existence, jobs have been found for 15 Negroes through PAHR's contracts.

The nagging problem is lack of skill and training. Jobs go vacant because men and women who need them haven't the necessary skills. In an effort to solve at least part of this problem, PAHR members have been talking with union leaders trying to break down long-standing union rules against Negro apprentices. If a young Negro boy had a chance to learn a trade as a union apprentice, his whole life could follow a brighter and more hopeful pattern.

Motivation Sought. Also, PAIR members have been talking with schools about increased vocational training, and with people interested in the "Wider Horizons" program designed to motivate children who could do better in school if they had enough reasons to do better.

Mr. Tyson points out that like these boys and girls, unskilled adults need at least a degree of hope that the time and effort they spend in preparing themselves will help. Otherwise, "What's the use?" becomes an understandable attitude.

And so, PAIR's 900 members find themselves still together, in spite of differing views on how to reach essentially the same ends.

A new 12-man executive committee has been elected — the Rev. Mr. Tyson; Henry Drewry and the Rev. Rowland Cox, vice-presidents; Malcolm Diamond, secretary; Leighton Laughlin, treasurer and Mrs. Floyd J. Campbell, the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, Edgar M. Gemmell, George Goldsmith, Ernest Lynton, Irving L. Newlin and Mr. Caldwell, committee members.

The young organization seems to have survived its first crisis, but the stresses still remain within the group and Princeton will watch with interest to see the effect they may have.

STEVENSON TO SPEAK

Ambassador Here Monday. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, currently the U. S. Representative to the United Nations, will give the Dag Hammarskjold Memorial Lecture at the University on Monday. Time and Place: 8 p.m. in Alexander Hall.

The lecture is one of a series established as a memorial to Mr. Hammarskjold, late secretary - general of the United Nations, in which more than two dozen world personalities are participating. Each participant delivers his lecture at a university of his choice in his own country (Mr. Stevenson is a Princeton graduate, Class of 1922), and lectures in the series at more than a dozen universities on five continents.

A member of the University's Whig-Clisophic Society as an undergraduate, Ambassador Stevenson will receive the organization's James Madison Award for "outstanding service to public affairs and discussion of public issues." Presentation of the award will be made at the society's annual banquet on Tuesday evening.

During World War II, Ambassador Stevenson served as special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox. Elected to the governorship of Illinois in 1948, he subsequently was twice the Democratic party's Presidential nominee. He was appointed to the UN Ambassadorship in 1961 by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Ambassador Stevenson's lecture in Alexander Hall will be open to the public, but the Whig-Clio banquet will be open only to members. During his visit to Princetoo, the Ambassador will be the guest of President and Mrs. Robert F. Goheen.

SLATES COMPLETED

For November. With the selection of a candidate to run for Borough Council on the Democratic ticket, Princeton's parties completed the slates that will run for office next November. The filing deadline was last Thursday.

Nicholas J. Bartolino, 8 Tee-Ar Place, and Enoch J. Durbin, 246 Western Way, will be Democratic candidates for Borough Council. Republican candidates will be Alan J. Carrick, incumbent, of Cedar Lane, and Frederick M. English, 6 Madison Street.

In the Township, William Wilson, Republican, 225 Jefferson Road, will run for a second term, opposed by Willham Sloane, Democrat, 241 Bayard Lane. Only one Township Committee seat is in the 1964 contest.

DEN'S OPEN!

"Fabulous!" Streamers flying, grinning police escort spinning red light and siren, a caravan of cars made a historic trip Monday afternoon — from Princeton High School to The Den, the new teen lounge just opened in Dorothea House.

"It was a fabulous opening!" said Jim Woll, Den supervisor. A jug band of Little Tigers almost drowned out the juke box. The ping-pong table was a-quiver with action. The place was so packed you couldn't get in the door. There were even more customers on Tuesday.

Deer and bearskins, deer heads, a wine-cellar mural, barrels for tables, smaller barrels for chairs, shutters to close out the over-21 world outside, a bulletin board, colored lights . . .

The team committee worked from Thursday afternoon through Sunday evening painting and preparing, and a few adults did the last-minute work on Monday when school was in session. It was quite a day.

How did The Den manage the police escort? There's a girl on the steering committee named Mary McCrohan.

BUDGET PASSES

In Township. Only 12 people came to the public hearing Monday night on the $1,144,043 Township budget. Committee passed the budget unanimously.

As it turned out, four of the 12 had come to discuss a complex assessment problem with Committee; one had come to talk about dogs; another was the representative of Princeton's real estate agents, who usually comes anyway and another was the Township's tax assessor. The other five had come to see about the budget.

Mrs. John V. A. Fine asked Committee to restore to the recreation part of the budget a contingency fund of $300. She told Committee that the Valley Road Saturday recreation program had grown from 28 to 40 children, and had run out of clay. The crafts director had had to run "next door" to Cranbury to borrow some, Mrs. Fine said.

She was also concerned about summer recreation, and the fees for a janitor if the Spring outdoor program were driven indoors because of rainy Saturdays.

Committeeman John O. Green assured Mrs. Fine that there was now plenty of money for clay, and would be throughout the year, and that money would be found in the existing budget to keep a summer teen recreation program alive.

A Level Line. In a graphic presentation, Administrator Joseph R. Nini showed Committee a graph on which the local purposes line showed a reassuring levelness. He said that the local rate had gone up only 13 points in eight years: from 38.5 in 1957 to the present 51.

Replying to a question from Clarence Di Donato, 27 Harris Road, Mayor William Wilson said Committee examined with greatest care the requirements of each Township department, including the number of employees needed to staff each department.

Committeeman Walter B. Foster told Mr. Di Donato, who wondered whether the Township had too many policemen, that, on the contrary, the force is "light" compared to other towns of the same size.

Committee named H. Walter Dodwell, the University's chief security officer, to the Traffic Safety Committee, replacing the assistant Township attorney, who will continue as adviser to the group.

Mayor Wilson said that the increasing momentum of University expansion plans, involving roads, parking lots and buildings scheduled for future construction in the Township, made it advisable to appoint a University representative to the traffic group.

Executive Agenda. Mayor Wilson has established a policy of outlining to the public the agenda that Committee expects to follow in executive session.

On Monday night, Mayor Wilson said, Committee planned to discuss: animal shelters with Donald Maxfield of the National Humane Society; shade trees; Rosedale Road and Harrison Street sidewalks; possible joint purchasing arrangements with other municipalities; the business personal tax assessment; salaries; a couple of assessment problems and the possibility of acquiring equipment to test drunken drivers.

Even though Committee may not get to all these matters in a single executive session, Mr. Nini said later, putting them on such an agenda serves to keep them in mind.

$1 MILLION RAISED

For Hospital Fund. The total raised to date for the Princeton Hospital Building Fund is $1,168,981. This was the sum reported at the first general campaign report meeting on Monday evening.

The goal of the three-year campaign is $3,500,000, and the objective of the community-wide general gifts phase of the campaign just beginning is $200,000. Chairmen of general gifts solicitation are Mrs. Bernard Kilgore and Mrs. Marshal M H. Dana.

Additional gifts in the amount of $65,948 were announced at Monday's meeting. Of this sum, $29,639 was turned in by the general gifts committee, $30,560 by the special gifts committee and $5,749 by members of the hospital staff.

The general gifts committee's high division honor went to Mrs. Henry Savage, who reported $4,187. High team captain was Mrs. George Griffing with $1,876, and highest individual report on Monday was $1,800 turned in by Mrs. Samuel Frothingham.

The special gifts report at the meeting included a contribution of $10,000 from the Food Machinery and Chemical Corp. and $15,000 from the supplies division of International Business Machines Corp.

Mrs. Kilgore and Mrs. Dana presided at Monday's meeting, and George W. Conover, president of the hospital board of trustees, answered questions about the building program. The next report meeting is scheduled for April 1 in the University's Engineering Quadrangle at 8 p.m.

MAN ATTACKED AGAIN

Muggers Get $700. For the second time since January 24, a Princeton resident has been attacked and robbed early in the morning in front of his home.

Arthur Rosenthal, 62, 173 Harrison Street, a retired businessman was attacked at 1:20 a.m. Monday by two muggers who then took $700 cash from his right front pocket. The pair also took a $40 check.

Mr. Rosenthal told Township police that as he approached his house, a car pulled up along side him and two men got out. After being hit on the head with a blunt instrument, which Mr. Rosenthal said he thought was a gun, he fell to the sidewalk. His assailants then drove off with two other men who had remained inside.

The victim was taken to Princeton Hospital and treated for contusions and abrasions. Police said that early in the morning of January 24, Mr. Rosenthal was attacked in a similar manner. Then there had been only one and he managed to grapple with his attacker and prevent the attempted robbery.

Youth Is Slugged. Borough Police reported a 16-year-old juvenile, whom they did not identify, was attacked by four young hoodlums at 11:20 Saturday evening. The assault took place near Skirm's Smoke Shop, Nassau Street and Palmer Square.

Acting without any apparent provocation, the four hit the youth in his mouth, causing a deep laceration. Three sutures were used to close the cut and two more to close a smaller laceration on his chin. Police are investigating.

Round-Up

A number of objects snitched from parked cars during the past week . . . For example, last week George McBride, Princeton undergraduate, phoned police to report that someone had lifted a radio from his car while parked in the rear of Colonial Club.

Also, Girard Raccioppi, 61 North Tulane Street, reported that three new whitewall tires, two of them mounted on rims, and $30 worth of tools had been taken from the trunk of his car while it was parked on Tulane . . . Total value: $150.

In a third filching-from-vehicle, and this one more senseless than the other two, Joseph Cresci, University student, lost 12 typed sheets of his senior thesis, a pair of eyeglasses and two sweaters . . . Taken from car parked on Witherspoon Street near Nassau.

Two other thefts reported a table valued at $60 taken from in front of the Witherspoon Art and Book Store, 6 Spring Street . . . a suitcase containing music books taken from a Westminster Choir College hallway, value $80.

A Latin student at a Princeton school has discovered a quick, though hardly commendable, way of speeding through Latin-to-English written translations assigned as homework . . . Just translates the first few lines and then goes on with "Oh, say, can you see by the dawn's early light . . ." to the end of the first stanza of "The Star-Spangled Banner." The nefarious scheme works, apparently, because the teacher, with a sheaf of papers to look at, only has time to give each one a quick glance.

Retter late than never: a contribution to TOWN TOPICS' Christmas Fund came into the office by mail last week . . . Not so late as you might think, as a matter of fact. Through the years, contributions have arrived in all seasons . . . including one in August from Cairo . . . the recital given by pupils of the Peggy Longstreth Bayer School of Dance for the benefit of the Heart Fund Saturday raised $300.

A high of 66 degrees was registered last Monday, balanced by a low of 20 degrees on both Thursday and Friday nights . . . There was .70 inches of rain on Tuesday and a gloppy, late Winter snow on Thursday.

Two Princeton school papers were among those receiving awards in the 40th annual contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Columbia University has announced . . . The "Inkspot," Valley Road School, won first place among newspapers published at junior high schools with an enrollment of 700 or less . . . "The Mall," Hun School paper, also took first place in its class.

News of a "caravan city" which will visit Princeton in early summer, temporarily adding several thousand people to the community's population, is reported in Business in Princeton, page 17 . . . a variety of early spring exhibitions are detailed in Art in Princeton (page 22), which includes the names of prize-winners in the show sponsored by the JayCees.

TOWN TOPICS' Mailbox is overflowing again this week (pages 15 and 16), subject matter ranging from plans for creating a rescue committee to prevent Carnegie Lake drownings to better care for small animals and further comment on exterior design of buildings owned by town and gown . . . Princeton Symphony's Monday night concert is reviewed and a host of other musical activities are reported in Music in Princeton (page 32.)

A wrapup of Princeton's basketball season and a look at next year's features the sports section (pages 28-31), which also pictures Princeton High School's captain-elect and reports on the up-coming game between the police departments of Princeton Borough (Blues) and Princeton Township (Blacks)—colors that may be more than symbolic when the frantic fray is finished.

The meaning of the New Hampshire primary election is reviewed by Princeton area pundits in Question of the Week (page 21) . . . plans of Princeton churches to offer continuing prayers for eventual passage of the Civil Rights Bill in the United States Senate are reported in News of the Churches (page 33), where Holy Week activities are also outlined for this area.

"The week that was" was a week of some violence in Princeton . . . brother knifed brother, "muggers" set upon a man after midnight and robbed him of more than $700 . . . two general alarms brought out the Fire Department . . . a Princeton University eating club announced plans to close because of long-standing financial problems . . . the possibility of closing Washington Road received further clarification. Commuters immediately welcomed the advent of TOWN TOPICS on newsstands at the Pennsylvania Railroad stations in Princetnn and Princeton Junction, this week will take more than 300 copies to read while on their way to and from work.

New Season Due

This time of year,
The thing is Spring is!

Doing anything special Friday morning around ten past 9? If not, you can watch the seasons change; spring arrives about then.

Winter isn't letting go easily, what with Wednesday's chill blasts and subfreezing temperatures. Matters will moderate, however, the Man reports. Clear through Friday but the weekend may be a mite damp.

CHEERS FROM THE NEW YORK CRITICS!

"WHAT A COMPANY THIS IS! . . . A broad, spirited production! It is a brave company — or one that has been together a long time and fused into a fine ensemble —that can dare to traverse Beaumarchais! . . . YOU CAN GET ALONG WELL WITHOUT FRENCH!"
— Taubman, Times

"AN IMPECCABLE EXERCISE WITHOUT THE LOSS OF A LAUGH! . . . By faithfully believing in everything that is fanciful about the play, the Barrault Company keeps its double edge sharp!"
— Kerr, Herald Tribune

CHEERS FROM THE NEW YORK CRITICS!

"By bringing us a silken yet ironic production of 'Le Mariage de Figaro,' the Theatre de France irradiates the City Center! . . ."
— Atkinson, Times

"A FINE OCCASION! . . . Its staging is blessed with a sense of freshness. . . . M. Barrault's company acknowledges the primary obligation to make comedy really funny!"
— Watts, Post

"An evening sparked repeatedly by verbal and acting pyrotechnics along the way! . . . and it dnes end in fireworks—real ones!"
— Nadel, World-Telegram

News Of The THEATRES

TO PRESENT CLASSIC

"Figaro" Set. The 50 actors and musicians of the Theatre de France, having completed their three-week engagement at the New York City Center, will come to McCarter Theatre for one night — next Tuesday — in a performance of Beaumarchais' "Le Mariage de Figaro." Curtain time is 8:30.

The engagement will bring back to Princeton for their first visit since 1957 France's leading husband-wife acting team: Madeleine Renaud and Jean-Louis Barrault, who are also the founders of the Theatre de France.

M. Barrault occupies a place in the French theatre similar to that occupied in the English theatre by Sir Laurence Olivier and Sir John Gielgud. He appeared for many years with the Comedie Francaise, leaving the company in 1946 to found, with his wife, the Theatre de France.

In 1959, he was appointed Director of the Theatre de France-Odeon by Ministerial Decree. This means that, in return for an annual subsidy from the French government, Mr. Barrault must provide 250 performances of 10 different plays each season.

The "Figaro" that will be seen here has been directed by M. Barrault himself. Yves Saint-Laurent has designed the costumes.

TO DO SHAKESPEARE

Gielgud, Dame Edith, Leighton. Three of the outstanding actors of the English stage will do "Homage to Shakespeare" in McCarter Theatre Sunday at 8:30 in a special program given jointly by the theatre and the English department of Princeton University.

Dame Edith Evans. Sir John Gielgud and Margaret Leighton will present scenes, sonnets and songs from the works of Shakespeare, offering a program which will be given in Philharmonic Hall as the opening event of the Lincoln Center World's Fair Festival.

Dame Edith will journey from London especially for the two performances at the Lincoln Center and the single performance in Princeton.

Miss Leighton, now starring on Broadway in "The Chinese Prime Minister," appeared in McCarter in 1955 in the world premiere of Terence Rattigan's "Separate Tables." Sir John has appeared twice on the McCarter stage in recent years with his "Ages of Man" selections from Shakespeare. He is currently directing the "Hamlet," in which Richard Burton stars.

"RICHARD III" NEXT

Fourth of Five. Having explored two Shakespeare tragedies and one comedy, the McCarter repertory company will turn to the chronicle plays for the fourth offering in the current Shakespeare Festival series. "Richard III" will be introduced into the repertory this Friday at 8:30.

Thomas Barbour will portray the English monarch whom Shakespeare cast in the role of diabolical villain. Mr. Barbour has appeared previously this season as Katharine's father in "The Taming of the Shrew" and as Juliet's father in "Romeo and Juliet."

Edward Earle has directed "Richard III" for McCarter. The play will feature Robert Blackburn as the Duke of Clarence; Angela D'Ambrosia as Queen Elizabeth; Mario Siletti as the Duke of Buckingham; Brita Brown as the Lady Anne and Clarence Felder as Lord Hastings.

"SHANE" ON TONIGHT

"Sunset Boulevard" Next. The late Alan Ladd, Van Heflin and Brandon de Wilde — who has aged considerably in the meantime, — will appear this Thursday at 8 in McCarter Theatre in the 1953 western, "Shane."

Next Wednesday at 8, the McCarter Film Series will distribute a bonus: Billy Wilder's 1950 Academy Award winner, "Sunset Boulevard," which stars Gloria Swanson as an aging movie star of the silent film days.

Other members of the cast include Erich von Stroheim as the star's former director and now her butler; William Holden as an opportunistic screenwriter who lives in the star's wierd mansion on Sunset Boulevard, and mogul Cecil B. deMille. Buster Keaton, Jack Webb and H. B. Warner are also listed in the cast.

THE HARP IS "LIVE"

Professional to Play. A live professional harpist will accompany "The Grass Harp," Truman Capote's comedy that will open this Friday in Murray Theatre as Community Players' spring offering.

"Grass Harp" will play again on Saturday night, and the two following Friday and Saturday evenings, all at 8:30. Tickets, $2 each, are now on sale at Male's Book Shop and will be available at the Murray Theatre box-office the nights of the performances.

The harpist is Ruth Kornblatt of Kendall Park, a performer whose professional experience includes work with Broadway orchestras in "South Pacific," "Flower Drum Song" and "Bells Are Ringing." She will play from the compositions of Grandjany and Tournier in the Murray Theatre production.

"HOLBROOK TONIGHT!"

In Mark Twain Re-creation. It takes Hal Holbrook three and one-half hours to apply the make-up he uses in "Mark Twain Tonight!" and it took him many years of study and research to perfect the impression he gives of the celebrated author.

Mr. Holbrook will come to McCarter on Monday, March 30 at 8:30, adjusting his current schedule of eight weekly performances in the Lincoln Center Repertory Company in order to visit Princeton.

In "Mark Twain Tonight!" Mr Holbrook re-creates one of the many platform lectures that Twain gave in the late 1890's in the course of many tours around the country. Selections are taken entirely from Twain's writings, and they range from miscellaneous speeches, to portions of "Huckleberry Finn," "Roughing It" and "Life on the Mississippi."

PRINCE AND PLAYHOUSE

Seven Days in May (now showing) is one of those infrequent movie phenomena by which a C-minus fiction-thriller, although or therefore a very best seller, is artfully transmogrified into an A-plus motion picture. Sure, it's still an all-out thriller — but it has something of importance to say, and says it with vigorous conviction, utter believability and unrelenting suspense.

Don't let that phrase "something of importance to say" mislead you. "Seven Days" is no mere movie-with-a-message (which is cinematalk for "no action, all talky-talk").

This is an absorbing, well written, well acted, exciting drama. An improbable plot — conspiracy by the U.S. military to overthrow our government Aweigh!

Navy has always been the service fur spring, but it seems even more so in 1964.

Touring the size ranges of both Stacy's (ladies) and Allen's (little girls) we found the navy around every turn: sailor outfits, broad collars, a red anchor here and there, mostly in the junior and VERY junior sizes because a size 18 looks fairly ridiculous in maritime blues.

And, as a fine sea change, there's a lot of bright green with all that navy. Sometimes it's Kelly himself. Others, it's a good, unripe lime. The contrast with a really deep navy is memorable indeed.

IT'S NEW To Us

WE'RE TOGETHER

Skirt, Top, Jacket. Ensemble is the word this spring. We have it from Stacy's, the shop in the Lawrence Shopping Center where every hanger holds at least two pieces.

Begin with a skimmer of a coat in navy flannel piped with red. Under, a sleeveless red flannel popover and a straight skirt. Who can wear the coat separately any time? You!

On the Stacy rack where the price rarely climbs above $30, you'll find a two-piece suit in a tweedy rayon cotton, fashioned with the longer, fitted jacket which is very new this spring. We found one in pale aqua, another in pale gold.

Palest lilac (or white) has been used for a two-piece suit with shorter, straighter jacket. Smooth, linen-like fabric in a natural shade has two inches of cafe au lait trim around the V-cardigan and narrow black piping outside the cafe au lait. Shoe-button black buttons hold the cardigan close.

That long jacket comes back again in a raw silk, loosely woven, with double-breasted cut over a quiet champagne blouse. The extroverted white and black plaid has a long, loose jacket almost like a topper with black silk facing on the turned back lapels and cap sleeves on the black overblouse. This overblouse departs from the norm by fixing itself around your waist with a two-inch outside band.

For Juniors, Stacy suggests a ribbed navy wool pea-jacket with white pearl buttons and a white wool flannel skirt. The long, pointed lapels can be accented with the navy and white striped linen ascot. ($65 price tag here).

For the size 16, Stacy shows another navy, this one with three narrow bands of lime green around the wide sleeves and around bottom of the generous jackket. A lime-green silk blouse has a wide cowl collar which goes over the jacket and looks for all the world like the jacket collar itself.

The same collar effect appears in a powder blue with capelet sleeves growing from a raglan shoulder. The aqua overblouse (aqua and powder? sure!) has four inches of soft, wide turnover that doubles as jacket collar.

Dress for spring? Take Stacy's hint and buy a strong autumn color like the burnt orange rayon nubbed silk, cut princesse, with short sleeves and a circle of paisley silk to embrace the throat.

Palest ice blue with horizontal bands of darker blue and white tucking makes a deceptively sweet shirtwaist dress. The deep cuffs have a one-inch lace band and so does the wide collar. $55.

In the coatroom, we find a bumpy lemon wool with those wider sleeves you've noticed this year. Next is a Kelly wool boucle with low self belt going all around to the back. A raincoat is oyster white with black raindrops the size of a 1910 silver dollar, spaced at random. Collar is a full 10 inches deep. The raw silk, big and loosely woven, is a $30 investment you can wear even when it's not a rainy day.

WHITE GLOVES AND A SPRING BONNET: Lisa Brown is four, and knows the morale value to any woman of a navy blue spring outfit and new white gloves. Murray Abelson, owner of Allen's, approves of the idea, too. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown, 14 Oakland Road.

SALUTE!

Allen's Has Navy. When we saw the size four cotton knit in navy stripes on white, we thought it was a potholder. Turned out to be a suave A-line sailor, identified by its deep royal-navy collar, front bow and embroidered red star-and-chevrons. ($7.98)

The store is Allen's, where the shade is navy and the shape is "A" this spring. Another A-line is solid navy with white stitching, a suggestion of white lace at the neck and a provocative white gardenia at the breast-bone.

For the jumper-effect, there's a navy with ruffled white sleeves and a three-inch

News Of The Theatres

—will leave you, at movie's end, thinking that such an event, if not probable, is at least possible.

The cast is astronomically starred: Burt Lancaster, Kirk Douglas, Frederic March, Edmond O'Brien, Martin Balsam and Ava Gardner. "Seven Days" is frighteningly realistic, but absorbing and, equally, sobering. See it.

GARDEN

High and Low (through Tuesday) is the latest from the facile camera of Japan's Ingmar Bergman-san, an eclectic talent named Akira Kurowasa. It's no Bergman, but it's very good Kurosawa.

"High and Low" proves the hypothesis that its possible to fashion a movie vibrating with excitement without either undraped busts or unabsted banzais. Or without an unhackneyed story line, for that matter.

It is the tale of a yen-happy shoe executive (Toshiro Mifune) in Yokohama who is engaged in a kamikaze-or-nothing attack to grab control of the firm. Enter a kidnaper, who is also a bungler — he puts the snatch on the son of Mr. Shoe's chauffeur instead of the rich heel's offspring.

Comes the question: should the most dishonorable exec save the kid by forking over most of the dough he's stashed away for buying control of the company, or should he save face (and fortune) and go ahead with his shoe coup on schedule? At best, the former alternative is one of those "You pays your ransom, and you takes your chance" things.

You've guessed it. He drops his bundle — the kidnapers get it. But, what's more, he's then so broke that about all he has left is the holes in a couple of yen to rub together, and his wised-up employer, National Shoes, even gives him the boot.

But "High and Low" crackles with suspense, swirls with motion, stuns with brilliant composition and flashing excitement. Go.

TARNISHED BRASS: General Scott (Burt Lancaster), much-decorated, four-star officer is the head of a military plot to take over the U.S. government. No Good Conduct Medal for him. Now at the Prince and the Playhouse.

band of white lace and rick-rack around the hemline. For the skirt fanciers, there's a gathered skirt of navy "linen" with a white blouse whose pointed collar lies over a double-breasted bolero piped with white. We saw it in size four, $5.98.

Not all is navy that springs, however. Allen's shows off a daffodil yellow confection with minute cap sleeves, little white collar and a sassy white daisy with stiff green stem growing right straight up the dress, hem to collar. Comes in two size ranges, so that sisters can be sisters.

Pink orlon knit is the background for a three-piece suit (sizes 7-12) with boxpleated skirt. The ivory popover has rosebud embroidery but the white-piped pink cardigan is plain.

Warm weather will be along one fine day, and in preparation, Allen's has a whole bare-armed rack of sleeveless dresses, from size 3 to 14.

"A" is for "Apple" and "A-line" is a powder blue whose "A" is a big, wide capital "A". The red apple is the pocket. On the reverse is a cream print with red apples, so you can wear either side in or out. A shirt and shorts match.

Horizontal awning stripes, pale cream with printed roosters and white fleur-de-lis on red — either of these sleeveless shifts has a straw hat with matching printed hatband. Ready for the sun?

The spring coat from Allen's will undoubtedly have its matching hat, too; a trim beret. A laminated, washable loopy coat is dazzling white, with brass buttons — and beret. A linen-like ivory laminated coat has roses printed on it (of all things!) — and its own beret. Solid red, or stone-blue coats are here, too.

White lace straw skimmer hat . . . white straw basket handbag . . . Allen's has all the trimmings.

(Mothers of boys shop here, too, of course. For the 4-20 boy, it's Madras jacket, dacron and-cotton, and blue cord.)

BUNNIES HOP

With Charm. Collectors of charms for bracelets might as well start the spring season at LaVake's. The question — where to begin?

A jade rabbit with coral carrot ($20) or a munching rabbit whose body is a sphere of green onyx, with gold legs and head. We like the enameled chick in its brushed-gold cracked egg ($22.50) and, most endearing of all, the half-inch woven gold basket ($19) filled with eight eggs, each about one-eighth inch long, each a different color.

The jade egg, with a single band of narrow gold, comes also in a mysterious pink stone and in amethyst. It's half an inch long. The goldeo rooster, with green onyx body, has elaborate golden feathers like a true aristocratic cockerel. He's $37.

LaVake has some 18-karat gold Italian charms more baroque than any we've seen. Each is about an inch long, wrought with sumptuous detail and studded variously with topaz or amethyst.

One charm is an elongated bell. Another is a turtle shape, with five amethysts buried deep in the intricacies of the gold. There's a turquoise-studded treasure chest that opens to reveat an embedded jade inside, and a bell heavy with topaz. Prices are $40 to $80 each.

To wear them on, LaVake suggests a $70 bracelet of double gold link, chased with two different designs on the links. You should be tall and Junoesque before you even consider a purchase.

For smaller bones, LaVake has a new collection of gold-on-sterling jewelry from Italy, some of it hand-enameled, all of it hand-made.

A one-inch rooster with arrogant tail-feathers, is a combination of gold and silver. A one-inch frog is properly green, painted in loving detail. He's $13.50. Butterflies and birds in pin form abound in this collection, and their prices start at a modest $6.50.

WRINKLES

by MARIE DAVANT

NEW YORK: — Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "OldAge" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticeable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6 days — and if you are not delighted with results, full price will be refunded. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Creme for $2.00 plus tax from Marsh & Co., 30 Nassau. Clip this out.

"KITCHEN PHYSICS:" Dr. Malcolm Skolnick, a physicist at the Institute for Advanced Study, conducts an experiment for elementary and secondary school teachers at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart. Looking on are, left to right, Dr. Marston Morse, chairman of Stuart's Academic and Library Committee and faculty member at the Institute; Mrs. William W. Lockwood, teacher at Miss Fine's School; and Donald Sawyer, science teacher at Princeton Country Day School. Nearly 40 teachers from Princeton area schools attended the first in a series of one-day science seminars.

sounded in Princeton during the past week, but both fires were snuffed out before any serious damage was done.

The most recent occurred at Renwick's Restaurant at 6.20 Tuesday morning. Counterman Louis Lucas called police to sound the alarm when the deep fryer in the kitchen caught fire.

The area around the stove was damaged by fire as were the ducts overhead. There was also some smoke damage, according to Chief Robert Mooney, who said the blaze probably started when the hot fat boiled over and came in contact with the fire underneath.

At 1.20 p.m Saturday, firemen were called out to the Princeton Inn dormitory on Alexander Street.

Site of the fire was a locked storeroom. Of undetermined origin, the blaze had destroyed a mattress, tables, venetian blinds and assorted stored articles.

AUCTION CAMPAIGN ON

For Hospital Fete. A call has been sounded for donations to the Collector's Auction of the Princeton Hospital June Fete. The solicitation campaign for choice items began last week under the leadership of Mrs. Frederic A. Millholland and Mrs. James P. Kneubuhl, with 27 captains assisting.

After looking over the substantial collection of furniture already received, Mrs. Kneubuhl said. "We are very pleased indeed with this fine beginning. The auction has always been one of the great attractions of the Fete and one which is particularly profitable — this year we are especially anxious to receive items of real interest and value which are truly appropriate for a 'Collector's Auction.'"

Mrs. Barklie M. Henry and Mrs. Carl D. Reimers are co-chairmen of the auction. Other committee heads: Mrs. Peter Lauck III, Mrs. Peter C. Holnback, Mrs. Carl L. Sonnenschein, Mrs. Kenneth Outerbridge, Mrs. Bradley Smith, Mrs. Richard E. Borger and Mrs. V. Terrell Davis.

Mrs. Charles C. Davis Jr., Quaker Road, will handle collections and should be notified at 921-7082 of any articles to be donated. Donations, which are all tax-deductible, should not include clothing, non-valuable books and especially, "rummage."

COURT CLUB TO CLOSE

Student Roster Inadequate. The Princeton Court Club, one of the undergraduate eating clubs on Prospect Avenue, will discontinue operations in June. Founded in 1921, it has had increasing financial difficulties during the past ten years, a problem which was aggravated by the unusually small number of sophomores (only 11) who accepted invitations to join in the February elections.

"It is a source of regret," said University President Robert F. Goheen, "that the Court Club, which for more than four decades has served the University and Princetonians well, has found it necessary to take this final step." Title to the club property will pass to the University, already the holder of a large mortgage on the property, and various possible future uses of the club building are already being studied.

Raymond H. Carter of Princeton, speaking for the club's board of governors, said that, without the University's financial help, the club would have had to close several years ago. The board of governors adopted at a meeting last week at which it decided to close the club a resolution expressing its appreciation to the University for its assistance.

The board also emphasized its gratitude to the University for the advice and encouragement, over and above financial help, given by the University administration. The club's representatives are working with the University to arrange facilities for returning alumni on football weekends, alumni day and at reunions.

BROTHER STABS BROTHER

Wound Nearly Fatal. Violent disagreement between two teenage brothers last week almost ended fatally for one.

Police report that during an argument at their home at 12 Berrien Court early Friday evening, William Saunders, 19, stabbed his younger brother, Carlton, 18, in the groin with a four-inch knife. Taken to Princeton Hospital, the youth was treated for what was first thought to be a superficial wound. Two sutures were required.

Further examination by a doctor, however, revealed that the youth's colon had been punctured four times. Young Saunders was operated on immediately and his condition listed as serious. Later, the hospital reported he had improved to the point where he had been taken off the critical list.

William Saunders was charged with atrocious assault and battery. He was released the next day after posting $1500 bail. Police did not say what caused the altercation.

DRIVER HITS POLE

During Coughing Spell. Racked by a severe coughing spell as he was driving on Nassau Street early Saturday morning, Stephen Deeny, 43, Hightstown, damaged himself and his car before it was over.

Mr. Deeny gave Borough police this account. As his car neared the intersection of Queenston Place, he was seized by a coughing spell which caused him to lose control. His car then jumped the curb, traveled some 45 feet, and hit a Public Service pole.

The right front end of his car was damaged and 20 sutures were needed to close a wound in his scalp. Police charged Mr. Deeny with careless driving.

THIEF TAKES $350

From Spruce St. Apartment. Striking sometime during the day, a thief forced his way into two apartments at 86 Spruce Street last Wednesday and escaped with $350 in cash.

The money was taken from a dresser drawer in an apartment occupied by Miss Johanna Snikkers which she shares with Miss Yen Chen. According to Detective Robert McAvenia, Miss Snikkers had just withdrawn the money from a savings account and planned to use part of it for the rent and bills.

A second apartment, that of Mrs. Graham Young, was also entered and ransacked. However, after a thorough inventory, Mrs. Young was unable to discover anything that had been taken.

FOREIGN AID IS NEXT

For Great Decisions Panel. A public discussion on "Foreign Aid: How Long? How Much? For What?" is scheduled for Monday at 8 in the YM's all-purpose room, as part of the "Great Decisions" program for 1964. Prof. Lester V. Chandler, acting director of the University's Woodrow Wilson School, will lead the panel.

A Slimmer Volume

The new Princeton Public Library has been re-cast to serve an eventual community of 30,000 instead of the 17,000 planned.

Mayor William Wilson told a Township Hall audience Monday night that population studies and estimates made available by Borough and Township Boards of Education, and Borough and Township Planning Boards show a 1973-80 Princeton population of 23-26,000.

After examining these estimates, the library's Board of Trustees decided that a 50,000 library would be quite large enough and architect and library consultants are now re-planning, Mayor Wilson said.

Members of the panel will be Dr. W. Arthur Lewis, professor of economics and international affairs; Dr. William W. Lockwood, professor of politics and international affairs and Dr. Fritz Machlup, director of the international finance section of the economics department.

Dr. Lewis, who came to the University last year, has served as deputy managing director of the United Nations Special Fund, under Paul G. Hoffman. He participated in the direction of several hundred pre-investment projects in almost 80 countries. He is a native of the West Indies and a graduate of the London School of Economics.

The Foreign Policy Association, a non-profit association in adult education, sponsors "Great Decisions" annually as a nation-wide discussion series on foreign policy problems.

TEN ARE FINED $472

In Traffic Court. Ten Princeton area drivers were fined a total of $472 in traffic court Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. Another motorist pleaded guilty to three violations but Magistrate Tams deferred sentencing for one week.

The biggest sum by far was levied against George F. Preston, 43, of Route 27. Mr. Preston pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving, was fined $225, and had his license revoked the mandatory two years. In addition, he was fined another $15 as an unlicensed driver.

Three were fined for speeding. The largest fine, $25, was assessed against Richard B. Speedy, 17, 24 Gulick Road. The other speeders were Kenneth R. Sharples, 25, Skillman, $20, and John S. Kramer, 33, Fackler Road, $15. All three pleaded guilty.

John Leard, 18, 36 Moore Street, was fined $25 and had his driving privileges revoked 90 days for careless driving. He was charged with speeding on Washington Road, at speeds up to 70 miles per hour. Also fined for careless driving was Flory F. Toto 3rd, 21, 73 Erdman Avenue. Cost to him, $15.

David T. Stern, 26, Old Princeton Pike, pleaded not guilty to three violations which stemmed from an accident on Washington Road. He was fined, however, on each $50 and revocation of license 60 days for reckless driving, $30 for leaving the scene of an accident and $10 for no license in possession.

In other violations, Harry Iley, 80, Skillman was fined $15 for failing to obey a signal from Patrolman John J. Bellow. He denied it and Harold M. Matthews, 20, Princeton Junction, was fined $12, "stop sign." Charged with riding his motorcycle on a Prospect Avenue sidewalk, Bradford B. Evans, 35, 322 Lockhart Hall, was fined $15.

Magistrate Tams deferred for one week sentencing Mark J. Masterton, 19, 18 Madison Street. Earlier Masterton had pleaded guilty to charges of driving while on a revoked list, driving an unregistered vehicle and using fictious plates. At the time, Magistrate Tams said he was unable to decide what sentence he should impose.

In criminal court, Linwood M. Pannel, 22, 138 John Street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of using loud and indecent language while talking to Borough police in the Colonial Restaurant. He was fined $25.

A drifter, William Selvin, 53, no address was sentenced to three days in the Borough jail for creating a disturbance last week in the New School

FATHER BECK TO SPEAK

At Woman's Club Meeting. The Importance of Folklore in New Jersey History" will be the topic for Father Henry Beck this Thursday at a meeting of the Woman's Club of Princeton. The program will begin at 1:30 at the Shrine Club, River Road, with Mrs. Lester W. Coate serving as hostess.

Father Beck, ordained in the Episcopal Church, is a New Jersey historian and newspaperman. His book, "Tales and Towns of Northern New Jersey," will be published by Rutgers University Press this spring.

The First Aid and Rescue Squad Building Fund has gained $1000 from the club, now qualified in the State Federation community improvement program. Brochures on the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration will be distributed at the meeting. Those interested in learning more about the appeal should write Mrs. Edward L. McCall, public welfare chairman for the club, at 34 White Pine Lane, Princeton.

STATE HISTORY TOPIC

For Historical Society. Prof Rudolph Vecoli of Rutgers' history department will address the Historical Society of Princeton Tuesday on "The People of New Jersey." The program will begin at 8:30 in Firestone's faculty lounge.

Prof. Vecoli is the author of "The People of New Jersey," part of the New Jersey Historical Series, edited by Dr Wheaton Lane and Dr. Richard Huber, both members of the Society.

The series was authorized by the Tercecntenary Commission. Tuesday's meeting will be the Society's first celebration of the Tercentenary yeor.

FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED

By Lawrence Township PBA. The annual fund drive conducted by the Lawrence Township Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, which started Monday, will run through April 16.

Proceeds from this ninth annual drive will be used to support several programs for the children of the Township. Among them are sponsorship of a Little League baseball team, ice skating parties, a hunter safety course, monthly dances and a bus trip to Philadelphia's Franklin Institute. Participation in all of these is free.

Those wishing to make contributions should mail them to P.O. Box 421, Lawrenceville.

TWO AWARDS GAINED

By Morven Society. The Morven Society of the Children of the American Revolution received two awards at the 34th annual state conference held at the Nassau Inn. Carolee Walton, Society president, accepted the awards.

The Society gained first prize for the best American Indian program held during the past year, and American Indian handcrafts were displayed at the conference by the Society.

Mrs. Frank A. Rechif was installed as senior president of the Society. The group toured the Old Barracks in Trenton and heard Miss Joan C. Hull, director of Junior Historical Societies in New Jersey, speak on "Students, New Jersey and History."

TOPIC: NEGRO CULTURE

At Adult School Lecture. The Negro contribution to American culture will be the subject of a talk to be given by Sterling A. Brown, distinguished Negro poet, editor and scholar at the next in a series of lectures at the Princeton Adult School. The lecture is scheduled for Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium.

Since 1929 a member of the English department faculty at Howard University, a graduate of Williams and Harvard, Mr. Brown has also been a visiting professor at Vassar, N.Y.U., the University of Minnesota and the New School in New York.

In addition to three books, "Southern Road," "Negro Poetry and Drama" and "The Negro in American Fiction," Mr. Brown has contributed poems and essays to more than a dozen other books. He is an authority on jazz and folklore and will be, with Rayford Logan, co-author of the centennial history of Howard University.

His lecture, sixth in the current series, will feature readings from leading Negro writers. Admission tickets will be available at the door.

Rescue Committee Planned.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The letters in last week's TOWN TOPICS regarding the recent drownings stated the "Carnegie Lake Problem" with eloquence and offered excellent, practical suggestions. Now the question is what shall be done next?

Mr. Bannon's suggestion that a Carnegie Lake Rescue Committee be formed to consider ways to prevent further tragedy is a logical step. With this in mind, arrangements are being made for a suitable date and place for a first meeting.

Everyone interested in the purpose of or in serving on this Committee is urged to attend this meeting which will be announced by letter in next week's TOWN TOPICS.

The suggestion that a committee be formed is of great practicality because of the invitable need here for continuity of group action. Even such an obviously right and seemingly simple improvement as a life preserver on a post at strategic intervals about the lake could require considerable sustained effort to bring about.

However it is to be formed, initially such a Committee will face a great need for certain essential facts bearing on all suggestions for improvements. Such facts are costs, experience of other communities, the jurisdictional breakdown as to municipal, university or individual ownership of the land surrounding the lake, etc.

For this reason, persons with this type of special knowledge are urged to attend so that a record can be compiled that will advance the project swiftly through the research phase to the crucial stage of preparing recommendations for community action.

Color Suggestions Welcome.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In regard to Mr. Halsey Thomas' letter in the March 12th issue of TOWN TOPICS, in which he raised an objection to the color of the paint on the Balt Building, Edmund Cook & Company, as Managing Agents of the building, are also disappointed in the color as it did not produce the desired effect contemplated from the sample.

We had hoped to re-paint the building before this but, because of the dirt created from the tearing down of the adjoining building and the construction of the new building, it had to be delayed. However, in the past ten days we have been in a quandary as to what color to paint the Balt because its present color blends in with the brickwork of the new adjoining building.

If Mr. Thomas will take the time to send us swatches of colors which he thinks would be appropriate, we would be glad to consider them along with those we have.

Princeton's Dilemma.

To the Editor of Town Topics.

What is happening to the town of Princeton? I came to Princeton 50 years ago and can match Mr. Cook on criticism, but mine would be on the opposite side of the coin.

With the housing shortage so prevalent in town, why were so many homes razed to make way for office buildings and parking lots? Already too many activities are being lured to Princeton, considering its geographical size.

When the old houses on Hulfish Street were razed, why weren't a group of low-cost housing units built to house those who lived in this area so many years? No, parking lots, and parking lots to accommodate the ever-expanding Inns who, in turn, bring in all kinds of activities, so that it is almost impossible for the resident to find a parking area.

Why wasn't a three or four-story parking unit built, as they are doing in other towns instead of ruining Palmer Square with its open parking lots? Our Borough officials should "be the example and guiding force to preserve Princeton as a unique and outstanding community." It is a rare privilege to live in a university town and we are grateful for their co-operation.

EMMA HUTCHINSON

Warning to Pet Owners.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a long-time resident of Princeton, and one who has heretofor been much in favor of the way the town has been handling its animal-control problems, I was much disturbed to learn that the town officials are seriously considering supplanting the irreplaceable services of the Small Animal Rescue League with those of a contractural dog warden. Operating with the assistance of volunteer workers and on the basis of limited funds, the Small Animal Rescue League has been doing an honest and humane job of picking up and providing medical treatment for injured animals, humanely destroying the hopelessly sick and crippled ones, returning lost cats and dogs to their owners, and finding homes for healthy, unwanted former pets.

Contractural dog wardens are paid by the various communities they serve to pick up and dispose of unwanted or stray dogs and cats. Many of these so-called strays are in reality lost pets.

Although they are tax-supported, the contractural dog wardens frequently refuse to admit the public to their shelters. Furthermore, on June 6, 1963, State Health Commissioner Roscoe F. Kandle declared that unclaimed animals in pounds should be used in "humane, constructive research rather than be killed uselessly."

The new state policy, therefore, openly encourages all pounds, shelters and contractural dog wardens to sell dogs and cats to the laboratories. It is an inescapable conclusion that contractural dog wardens are not in the business for humane reasons but to make money. Finally, many of these dog wardens are not equipped to provide proper facilities for feeding, housing, placing for adoption, or humanely destroying unwanted or stray dogs and cats.

New Jersey residents are beginning to realize that a dog's license and collar tag provide small protection against the animal's loss or theft. As for cats, there are no laws protecting them in the state of New Jersey.

The only insurance against the permanent loss of household pets is for each community to see to it that there is in its midst an organization which can be relied upon to look after the best interests of cat and dog owners. Such an organization is, I believe the Small Animal Rescue League of Princeton.

I therefore urge all interested Princeton residents to telephone or write their town officials in strong support of the Small Animal Rescue League, and its invaluable services. And to contact the League itself in regard to seeking pets for adoption, lost or strayed animals, etc. Their phone number is 921-6122.

Note on Easter Buying.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Easter approaches and with it the sale of baby chicks, bunnies and ducklings! The gross neglect and cruelty perpetrated upon these helpless, fragile animals hardly befits a season of religious devotion. We urge parents not to purchase these 'cute' animals, and that all citizens obey the state SPCA laws regarding their purchase and sale.

The law specifically provides fines of up to $100 for unnecessary cruelty, for sale of artificially colored animals, for sale to persons without proper brooder facilities, and for sale of less than six baby chicks, ducklings, etc. With the help of thoughtful parents, municipal officials, store and pet shop owners, much needless cruelty can be avoided during this season of religious holidays.

Suggestion from the League.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Princeton community is now faced with the very serious problem of having no permanent kennel to care for lost and stray animals. After extensive investigation it has been proved that there is no suitable boarding kennel available in this area. Township authorities have given assurance that the large commercial pound is no longer being considered.

Last year, the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League endeavoured to build a small shelter on farm property in the Township, but this project had to be abandoned because of zoning restrictions.

Although it is always a municipal responsibility to provide a suitable shelter to care for animals brought in by the warden or police, the League is cooperating with the municipalities by making the following offer: to donate its entire building fund of $6000 to the Township or preferably both municipalities toward their construction jointly of a shelter on their own land. Also, the League will contribute annually toward their operation of this shelter, one-third of the net operating costs.

This would be in addition to our expenses of about $3600 for our Lost and Found Adoption Services, which we have carried on for 13 years, with funds from dues and Contributions. We feel that this humane work is essential to the Community and is appreciated, especially by those who have their lost pets restored to them and by others who are made happy by the adoption of a nice pet. The League's Executive Secretary takes and makes hundreds of phone calls a year, many of which would otherwise go to the police.

It would seem most inadvisable for any organization to build a permaneot, expensive building on municipally-owned and/or controlled property even if legal and sufficient funds could be obtained.

Officers of the League expect to meet very soon with representatives of the two municipalities to discuss our offer and work out procedure.

HARRIET A. STEPHENS
Mrs. Allan W. Stephens, Pres.
Princeton Small Animal Rescue League

"A Cake for Mrs. Nobody."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Eighty percent of Township and Borough vitally concerned over what happens to lost and stray animals. Have looked through papers endlessly — nothing.

Boring write up and photograph of someone giving a coffee party or a cake donated to Mrs. Nobody, but not a word about the very vital problem of local animals. What is the matter with real news?

Mrs. R. S. PIERREPONT
Boca Grange, Florida.

Keep the League's Services.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As an active member of several organizations concerned with animal welfare and a former resident of Princeton for many years, I was much interested to read in TOWN TOPICS the account of proposed plan for the building of a joint Borough Township Animal Shelter, to be partially financed by the Small Animal Rescue League and to be constructed on land jointly-owned and donated by the Borough and Township. According to TOWN TOPICS, the Small Animal Rescue League has offered to pay $6,000 toward the building of the shelter and one-third of its yearly operating expenses.

It has long been evident that a community of Princeton's size with such a large number of resident pet owners has been in need of a well-built, properly equipped, and adequately financed animal shelter of its own, operated under the supervision of an animal welfare society. This fact was recently put to a test when Princeton suddenly found itself confronted by the possibility that the invaluable services of the Small Animal Rescue League might be supplanted by those of a contractural dog warden from Somerville.

Now that the proposed joint Borough - Township Animal Shelter plan has been presented to Mayor Patterson and Mayor Wilson, all interested Princeton residents should urge them to retain the Small Animal Rescue League in a close supervisory capacity and to so stipulate in the contract. Also retained should be the Rescue League's well-established and thoroughly efficient spaying program.

Every year in this country 25,000,000 kittens and puppies are born for which there are no homes available. The Rescue League's built-in spaying program takes care of the surplus animal problem at its source.

Above all, Mrs. Graves of the Rescue League should be put in charge of the proposed Shelter's Lost and Found department and Adoption service. Through her efforts in the past five years, hundreds of lost pets have been returned to their owners and hundreds of animals placed for adoption. This service has benefited not only Princeton, but also other communities near and far — to name a few, Kingston, Rocky Hill, Lawrenceville, Trenton, Cranbury, Lambertville.

In the interests of supporting the joint Borough-Township Animal Shelter plan and of retaining the services and assistance of the Small Animal Rescue League, it is my hope that all interested Princeton residents will make their wishes known to Mayor Patterson and Mayor Wilson. To this end, they should also attend their Borough Council Meetings — the second Tuesday of each month, and their Township Council Meetings — the first and third Mondays of each month, so that they may voice their opinions if and when the matter is brought up for discussion.

Thanks for Cooperation.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On behalf of the president, Mrs. W. L. Liegel, and members of The Woman's Club of Princeton, I wish to express our appreciation for the excellent cooperation we receive from the editors and personnel of TOWN TOPICS and for the amount of publicity given annually to our programs.

The Woman's Club of Princeton is a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the largest group of organized women in the world, having 11,000,000 members in 15,500 clubs in the United States and 54 other countries. The General Federation program in this administration highlights an extensive campaign to obliterate illiteracy from the world, a "Dimes for Liberty" project to help build the Museum of Immigration at the base of the Statue of Liberty, and many other worthwhile endeavors.

However, our club has the privilege of selecting any project we wish to emphasize, keeping in mind the needs of our own community. During the year our major effort was directed toward the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad Building Fund, to which we contributed $1,000.00.

cut a square corner with a riding mower?

YES, IF IT'S A BOLENS LAWN KEEPER

Ordinary riding mowers have four wheels on a one-piece frame. Turning requires a "wide sweep," or a series of "back-ups" to make square corners. Bolens new Lawn Keeper is a riding mower with a two-piece frame. And the frame does the turning! Turn the steering wheel and this one pivots within a 14 inch radius. Cuts grass forward of front wheels for smoother lawns. Engine and exhaust fumes to rear of operator . . . where they belong!

"WE EXPECT TO SPEND ABOUT $1 MILLION HERE": Enos A. Axtell, president of the Wally Byam Caravan Club, outlines logistics for the rally to be held from June 22 to July 5. Mr. Axtell came to Princeton last week to review plans and speak at a luncheon with officers of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce. At left is Edward A. James, mayor of Montgomery Township, where rally site is located; at right, Cory S. Kammler, head of Kammler Buick, Wally Byam Club member and Mr. Axtell's special representative working with the Chamber of Commerce. (Staff Photo)

BUSINESS In Princeton

BYAM CLUB COMING HERE

About 10,000 Expected. "Our members will spend about a million dollars in the Princeton area at our rally this summer," said Enos A. Axtell, president of the Wally Byam Caravan Club, who visited Princeton last week to discuss plans for the rally with business leaders here. The rally will take place between June 22 and July 5.

"New Jersey's Tercentenary and the New York World's Fair, in addition to our own special programs, are bringing in reservations fast," Mr. Axtell told members of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce, which is helping with the complex arrangements, at a Nassau Inn luncheon on Friday.

The rally, Mr. Axtell said, will be the seventh annual national round-up of the travel-trailer organization. It will convene on 200 acres of land in Montgomery Township just north of Princeton, and a large part of the entertainment and meetings will be held in a a large tent in the center of the 3,000 trailers, which will be parked in a wagonwheel layout.

"We are extremely grateful to you for your cooperation," Mr. Axtell informed the group present, including Montgomery Township Mayor Edward A. James and Clerk Beatrice S. Skillman. All requirements for sanitation, fire protection and other health and safety factors have been established by the township and will be met by club officers and members, Mr. Axtell said.

Harold J. Dobbs of Bernardsville, president of the New Jersey chapter of the Wally Byam Club, and Cory S. Kammler, head of Kammler-Buick in Princeton and also a Wally Byam member, are Mr. Axtell's special local representatives. Among other things, plans are being made for bus service between the rally site and Princeton.

Arrangements are being completed for distribution of milk and dairy products, bread and other baked goods, soft drinks, dry cleaning and laundry facilities, photographic supplies and bottled goods, according to Alan G. Frank, Chamber of Commerce president. "In arranging for these supplies and services we are going first to local area business firms," Mr. Frank said. "Both the Wally Byam Club and the Princeton Chamber want to deal with our hometown merchants first, but in some instances we've had to seek outside help."

Following last week's conference, Mr. Axtell returned to the Wally Byam Club's Bakersfield, Calif., headquarters. He plans to return here about June 1, when advance units of the rally caravan begin to arrive.

High point of the rally, according to Mr. Axtell, will be a banquet for 5,000 and the installation of new officers. This is scheduled for July 2 in Dillon Gymnasium on the University campus, the one building in the area which can accommodate a group of that size.

GROUND IS BROKEN

For Plainsboro's New Bank. "Don't forget to bring the shovel," said Isaiah D. Barclay, president of the First National Bank of Cranbury when he invited Plainsboro Mayor Henry W. Jeffers Jr., to take part in last week's ground-breaking ceremony for the new Plainsboro branch of the bank. Mr. Jeffers, a bank director and president of the Walker-Gordon Laboratories, is owner of "The Plainsboro Shovel."

So, in its ninth ceremonial spading last week, the Jeffers wielded shovel broke ground for the new building at Shalks Crossing and Princeton Roads. At the site, a red brick, colonial building designed by Drake, Convery & Cueman and to be constructed by Lewis C. Bowers & Sons of Princeton, will house the Plainsboro branch office of the Cranbury bank.

At the ground-breaking, Mr. Jeffers said the shovel was first used in May 1928 at a ceremony beginning the now famous Walker-Gordon Rotelactor building. In 1932 it initiated construction of the new Plainsboro Community Church.

In 1938, it turned the first spadeful of earth for the Borden exhibit at the New York World's Fair. Other opening ceremonies in which the shovel has played a key part: the Charles River, Mass., Rotolactor in 1941; the industrial atomic reactor in Plainsboro in 1957; school addition in 1959, the Plainsboro firehouse in 1962, and Holiday Inn in 1962.

AGENCY TO CONTINUE

Following Death of Kuller. "Our business will continue as usual and our policies will remain unchanged," said Mrs. Carol H. Walker, president of Kuller Travel Company, following the death last Wednesday of Thomas A. T. Kuller, founder of the company.

Mr. Kuller died in Clearwater, Florida. He had not been active with his company on a full-time basis for several months.

Mrs. Walker, who has been associated with the company for ten years, has now become president of the corporation. Her husband, William E. Walker, is vice-president and treasurer and Mrs. Kuller, widow of the founder, retains her position as secretary.

The Walkers have purchased a substantial part of the business and it is now essentially theirs.

Thomas A. T. Kuller started his travel agency in 1947 in Trenton, moving it to Princeton the following year. The agency's offices are at 108 Nassau Street.

RESEARCH HEAD NAMED

By Investment Firm. Richard P. Meister of Flemington has been named to organize and direct a new research and investment counseling division being added by the First Princeton Corporation at 4 Charlton Street.

Mr. Meister has had ten years' experience in investment counseling and planing. Most of this was spent as an account executive for Standard & Poor's Corporation.

In a second announcement, First Princeton named Edward Smith a vice-president. Previously, Mr. Smith was an account executive with Oppenheimer & Co. in New York before joining FPC in May, 1962, as its resident manager. He lives in Rahway.

To be restricted to accounts in excess of $100,000, FPC's investment counseling service will be highly personalized and tailored to individual portfolios. By means of a cross index system, the customer's securities will be subjected to continuous analyses.

In addition, FPC will initiate a complete investment program starting with cash on a fee basis. The program will be modeled to fit the individual's requirements and desires.

JOINS ARCHITECTS FIRM

To Direct Client Service. Mrs. Alice Heggen has been appointed director of client services at Fulmer & Bowers, Princeton architectural firm, according to a recent announcement. Mrs. Heggen previously was associated with McCarter Theatre as educational coordinator, and prior to that was on the staffs of the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York.

The client service department at Fulmer & Bowers coordinates work on behalf of clients in such areas as getting public acceptance of a bond issue, in fund-raising campaigns and in presentations before such municipal groups as the Zoning Board.

It also aids the industrial clients' own promotion efforts in introducing his new facilities and services to the community. Fulmer & Bowers have been the architects for such Princeton installations as the Community Park School, Stuart Country Day School, the Research Center for the Tile Council of America and Opinion Research Corporation.

ANTIQUE SHOP OPENS

In Hightstown Area. A new shop with old stock, Honeysuckle Hill Antiques, is now open during weekends on Perrineville Road, Clarksburg, just outside of Hightstown, Hightstown. Available for sale are old wooden farm and home implements, Victorian furniture and bric-a-brac, copper, brass, silver, china and glass, as well as some finished furniture and some "in the rough."

Mrs. Betty Van Fleet Levine, the shop's owner, says: "We had to open a shop to house the products of our auction-fever, so we sold our sheep and cooverted the barn into a showroom. We welcome everyone on Saturdays and Sundays — and evening appointments can be arranged."

GIRL SCOUT RALLY SET

For This Sunday. Princeton members of the Mercer Girl Scout Council, including Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes and Seniors, will gather this Sunday at 2.30 in the Campus Center of the Theological Seminary for an International Rally. Martha Hackley, Senior troop president, will be mistress of ceremonies.

The color guard for the flag ceremony will include Beth McKeever, Susan Clohossey, Helen Carroll and Laurie Bain. Mrs. Philip Hammond, Princeton Neighborhood chairman, will speak, and Mrs. Stanley Ifuff will show slides of the Chalet, Scout international headquarters in Switzerland.

Performers in an international sketch will be Jean LeForge, Peggy Adams, Kathleen Cherry, Jane Johnston, Joyce Karraker, Sue Klein, Sue Mills, Sue Starbuck, Kathleen Wilson, Keitha Woodward, Ann and Eleanor Vivian, and Shifrah Vromen.

Greetings in four languages will be given by Jane Johnston (German), Shifrah Vromen (Hebrew), Joyce Karraker (French) and Jean LeForge (Swedish). Ellyn Frank will teach a German game song to the group, and Mrs. Richard Gilbert will lead the song, "Our Chalet."

Planning the Rally are Mrs. Henry J. Frank, Nadine Marsh, Diana Cherry, Karen Hammond, Joan Kahn, Deborah Plummer, Diana Waterous, Lynn Hoisington, Anne Barrett, Gwen Thomas, Jane Johnston, Melissa Stretch, Sandy Scaramozzino, Sandy Cuthbert, Juliana Sebley, Nancy Bowers, Sharon Hammond, Becky Treiman and Jane Vial.

EISENMANN TO RUN

For Rocky Hill Mayor. Incumbent Rocky Hill Mayor Robert Eisenmann has filed his petition as the Republican nominee for the office. Petitions have also been filed by William Mack, Sam Panicaro and David MacDonald for seats on the borough council.

Mr. Eisenmann has served as borough councilman for more than five years, and during his last term he was council president. When Mayor James Hosford resigned his post in January, Mr. Eisenmann was appointed by the council to fill the unexpired term.

A resident of Rocky Hill since 1952, Mr. Eisenmann is employed as operations manager at the Nassau Oil Co. Mr. Mack, now a Republican committeeman, has lived in Rocky Hill for 16 years, has been a member of the school board and is employed in Trenton by Cathcart-Pontiac.

Mr. Panicaro, filing as Democratic nominee for borough council, is a life-long resident of Rocky Hill, is employed at the Princeton University Store and is a member of the American Legion. Mr. MacDonald, incumbent Democratic councilman, has been on the council for the past three years and a resident of Rocky Hill for 17.

Republicans Albert Robotti and Mabel Longstreet and Democrats Joseph Cocciolillo and Grace Gurisic have filed petitions for committee members.

Friday, the 13th? Wait!

Oliver V. Houghton, Princeton contractor, is clearly a careful mao. He values his reputation and does not want anything, including superstitution, to stand in the way of doing the best possible job.

With everyone waiting last week for work to start on alteratinns of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo R. Favreau, 531 Lake Drive, Mr. Moughton, as the contractor, telephoned the office of Richard J. Chorlton, the architect to say: "It's Friday, the 13th. Let's wait till Monday, the 16th, to sign the contract."

They waited.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

An article about economy in car operation said, "We all can use a few reminders now and then if maximum savings and trouble-free driving are to be enjoyed. Invariably what you put into preventive maintenance is a high-dividend-investment whereas money spent on correction and repairs which could have been prevented is money down the drain." They had a case history of a fellow who had said he couldn't give up his car long enough to allow it to be taken in for regular preventive maintenance. (An error in itself because preventive maintenance takes so little time). After some months of haphazard servicing his monthly bills started mounting until he was spending as much on repairs each month as payments would have been on a new car. To boot, he finally had to trade it at a beating of several hundred dollars. The article made its point, and, as we all should recognize, in any field you can be sure of the least trouble and costs only if you find conscientious people who operate by the golden rule Please may we serve you? "ITS THE BOROUGH'S"

Washington Road Mix-Up. Who does and who doesn't own Washington Road and what, if anything, is to be done with it has been puzzling many Princetonians recently. The matter, which first came up for public discussion three weeks ago at a Borough Zoning Board meeting, has been set to rest by Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney.

"Jurisdiction over Washington Road from Nassau Street to the Borough line belongs to the Borough of Princeton," Mr. Mooney emphasizes. His statement was made to negate the belief, based on recent statements, that the power to close off Washington Road as a public street rested with the University.

Mr. Mooney's statement also corrects another misconception: that all of Washington Road is under the jurisdiction of Mercer County. The county's jurisdiction does not begin until the road passes the Borough line.

Mr. Mooney stated that no proposal has been made to the Borough to close any part of the street which now is the main thoroughfare from Nassau Street to Route 1 and Princeton Junction. And, if there should be any such proposal in the future, he added, it would necessarily have to go through the legal steps of Borough government consideration, a public hearing and legislative enactment.

Although officers of the University have reportedly been talking of the eventual closing of Washington Road for some time, the present upset came from the publication in the Princeton Alumni Weekly of a talk by University Trustee Henderson Supplee Jr. before the Alumni Council. Mr. Supplee, a resident of Radnor, Pa., said among other things: "When we are able to achieve our objective of closing Washington Road to outside traffic . . ."

Chairman of the University trustees' committee on grounds and buildings, Mr. Supplee also is quoted as saying that: "The Administration, members of the (trustees') committee and others have been earnestly at work to try to develop a by-pass that will make it possible for us to take the traffic off Washington Road."

Some of the confusion over the University's jurisdiction on Washington Road may have been caused by the scheduled closing of College Road. Washington Road is a public street, but College Road is a private campus drive which the Uni-

FRENCH CHEF COMING

To Wellesley Antiques Show. A French chef, Pierre, will take charge of the luncheon menus at the fifth annual antiques show and sale, sponsored by the Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey. The show will be held Wednesday through Friday, April 1-3, at Princeton Country Day School, Broadmead.

Pierre's menus will be Coq au Vin, Wednesday; Boeuf Bourguignon, Thursday; and Seafood Normandie, Friday. Salad, French bread or roll, and coffee or tea are included in the $1.50 price.

Lunch will be served from noon to 1:30 under the chairmanship of Mrs. Erling Dorf and Mrs. George H. Hughey Jr. Mrs. Donald N. Wilber and Mrs. Alfred Parsons are in charge of tea, available from 2 to 4:30.

Rare prints, books, furniture, pewter, brass and copper will be shown and sold by 26 dealers from Wiscasset, Me., to Philadelphia. Mrs. Gerrish Thurber and Mrs. William A. Stuart are co-chairman of the show, with Mrs. Walter G. Gibson serving as treasurer.

Hours will be from noon to 10 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, and from noon to 6 p.m. Friday. Admission is $1. Proceeds from the show will be used for May Margaret Fine scholarship fund, faculty salary increases and a scholarship for a Central New Jersey girl entering Wellesley.

THREE GOURMET MENUS: Mrs. Erling Dorf (left) and Mrs. George Hughey, food chairmen for the luncheons at the Wellesley Antique Show, go over menus with Pierre, former chef with the French Line and Le Pavillion now free-lancing in this area. The Antiques Show will be held April 1, 2 and 3 at Princeton Country Day School.

RELIEF SOUGHT

For Mississippi Negroes. Gifts of food and funds are being solicited by the Princeton Friends of the Students' Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. The donations will go to Mississippi Negroes who not only lose their jobs, but are dropped from the surplus food program if they take part in attempts to register to vote.

Princeton churches are asking members to bring canned food, packaged food staples, or funds to the services on Sunday. This Thursday is "fast" day for high school students who wish to donate their lunch money.

Chairman of the SNCC drive is Miss Jay Lockard. The campaign is supported by the Princeton Association for Human Rights, the Fellowship for Reconciliation and the University's Undergraduate Council for Human Rights and New Liberal Forum.

On Saturday, March 21, students from Princeton High School, Miss Fine's School, the Witherspoon and Valley Road Schools, and the University will launch a door-to-door solicitation. Donations may also be left at the PAHR headquarters, 170 Witherspoon Street, behind Mt. Pisgah AME Church.

Food collected will be delivered to SNCC in New York. It will be transported free to Mississippi by the Teamsters Union.

HAWK SCHOOL TO OPEN

April 6 in West Windsor. The West Windsor Township Board of Education has voted to move two classes of first and second grade students and 38 kindergarten pupils to the new Maurice Hawk School on Clarksville Road. The school will be open officially at 8:30 a.m. Monday, April 6.

The three classes, with a total of 80 boys and girls, are currently studying at the Penns Neck School. The State Board of Education has stated the first and second grades are taught in sub-standard classrooms.

In addition, Frank J. Walton, superintendent, pointed out the board would lose $6000 in state aid if the kindergarten pupils were not moved. The state standard is a maximum of 30 to a class, and the kindergarten has 38.

With the move to the $726,000 Hawk School, classes at Penns Neck will be reduced to an average of 25, and the 46-year-old facility will remain open at least until next year. One sale figure on the plant is estimated at $140,000.

Mr. Walton was named principal of the Hawk School, whose opening was postponed from September following bad weather. It is designed for 425 students, and Mr. Walton expects 350 in kindergarten through fifth grade beginning this fall.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED

By Manhattanville Club. Mrs. Paul Sigmund will serve as president of the Manhattanville College Club for a term of two years. Other officers elected at the club's annual communion luncheon were Miss Carol Kuser of Trenton, recording secretary; Mrs. Edward M. Hogan of Somerville, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John D. Franzoni of Trenton, treasurer.

Outgoing officers are Mrs. Daniel C. Dillon and Mrs. M. John O'Donoghue, both of Princeton, and Mrs. Henry B. Murphy of Trenton. Mrs Sigmund, the former Barbara Boggs of Washington, D.C., is on the faculty at Stuart Country Day School.

The club heard Dr. Nicholas Clifford, a member of the University's history department, at the luncheon. Mrs. Francis J. O'Hara III spoke to the members about the theatre party on April 3 at McCarter. Proceeds will be used for scholarships.

POSTAL WORKERS SOUGHT

Openings in County. John L. Dilworth, acting postmaster of Princeton Post Office, has announced positions are available at some Mercer County post offices as substitute clerk and substitute carrier. The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners will give a written examination to applicants in Trenton.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the primary results in New Hampshire?

Where asked: Around Town.

Mrs. Timothy Sheehan, 216 Russell Road, housewife: I feel that, unfortunately, it was a wasted six weeks. Mr. Lodge, being a favorite son, seemed almost a natural to come out ahead. Rockefeller should have beaten Goldwater because of the closeness of New England to New York. I think he is out of the running definitely now.

Mrs. Theodore H. Ely, Millstone River Apartments, housewife: I was very surprised yet pleased. I don't think Mr. Lodge will come back to campaign before this summer but it will be interesting to see how he does in the West as he is a native New Englander. As far as Rockefeller is concerned, the New Englanders indicated they are not for a big city man. Because they didn't want either Rockefeller or Goldwater, they chose a native son.

Robert Sacatelli, Trenton, machinist for Princeton University: Surprised, definitely. I don't think it means anything, however, as far as Goldwater and Rockefeller are concerned. I still feel they have as good a chance as Lodge. I think Lodge's supporters did a good job of campaigning for him, that's all. It's hard to say how much Lodge has gained. I'd say he has a slight edge at the most right now.

John Stevenson, Trenton, machinist for Princeton University: We hadn't heard much about Lodge since the last election and then all of a sudden he comes up as a dark horse and goes right to the forefront. I think, now, that Lodge has a good chance for the nomination but I wouldn't count Rockefeller or Goldwater out of it yet.

Mrs. H. M. Gurin, 14 Windsor Drive, Princeton Junction, housewife: It was a real upset but I still don't think the Republican Party has a presidential candidate yet.

Donald Rugg, 92 Overbrook Drive, vice-president, Opinion Research Corporation: I was surprised that Lodge made as strong a showing as he did. I feel it darkens both Goldwater's and Rockefeller's prospects —they aren't as strong as they were when they went into the primary.

Mrs. David Wilkinson, Lakeside Apartments, housewife: It was very surprising to me. However, I don't think the outcome will have much influence nationally. I don't think Lodge will do as well in other primaries. I think in view of some of the stupid statements made by Goldwater, it has enabled the voters to see him in a clearer perspective than before.

Frank Smith, student at Purdue University here for work on his thesis: I think it was a surprise for Nixon. Lodge had an organization working for him and Nixon, from what I've read, didn't and I was surprised to see Nixon get that many votes. I think Goldwater and Rockefeller still have the same chance they had before, whatever that was. I don't feel the primary has changed much because the whole thing was so uncertain before the vote and it still is.

Miss Lois Margerum, Little Rocky Hill, typist, Princeton University Library: I'm very happy that Lodge won. I think he's a good man — he's done well in Viet Nam — and I think he would make a good president, I really do. If he keeps going the way he is now, I don't think Rockefeller and Goldwater will have much chance of catching up. I hope he keeps winning.

David Donald, 26 Witherspoon Street, carpenter: I don't think it meant anything. Lodge comes from that area and I think the people voted for him because they didn't like any of the other candidates. I was surprised, though, to see the number of votes he got without any campaigning on his part. That's something unusual. I thing most people were surprised at that.

Mrs. Lucy Bilheimer, Prospect Apartments, member of the Princeton University administrative staff: Well, I was surprised. I hadn't been able to keep up with it to know that Lodge could take such a lead. Being a Democrat, I'm not too concerned. However, I don't think it will kill off Rockefeller's or Goldwater's chances. I don't see how the results in one small state can reflect the way the rest of the nation is going.

Joseph N. Castoro, Hopewell, owner of Castoro Construction: I think it shows a possible trend, an indication the way the country wants to go. The American public is moving with that trend — not 100% but I'd say 75%. I feel Lodge is representing the biggest part of the Republican party right now. To me, he's more of a conservative than a middle-of-the-roader. I also think his personality had a lot to do with it. Fifty percent of a candidate's appeal is based on his personality. It shows that Rockefeller and Goldwater don't have the majority of the Republican people behind them. I say if Lodge were running for president and Nixon vice-president last time, the Republicans would have won.

Don Waters, Trenton, co-owner of Waters Construction Company: Even though a lot of them were saying it didn't mean anything, I think the Republican leaders, together with Rockefeller and Goldwater, were surprised with the number of write-in votes Lodge got. In view of the snow and the fact that they had to write his name down — persons who voted for Lodge had to be strong backers for him. I think it will force leaders of the party to think twice about Lodge, Goldwater and Rocke-

Facts You Should Know About Oriental Rugs

Value of an Oriental rug generally is not determined by its thickness. Some of the finest and most expensive hand-woven rugs are generally thin. The value of an Oriental rug depends upon its artistry, closeness of weave and quality of wool used.

ART In Princeton

SHOWS HERE AND THERE

Present Day Club. Showing this month at the Present Day Club are paintings by Nancy O'Connor, a resident of Princeton who is active in community affairs, many of which are concerned with her sincere interest in art. For the last seven years she has decorated, attractively and tastefully, the windows of the Gourmet Shop and she has made and sold Christmas decorations similar to the angels in painted plaster which are on exhibit here.

Mrs. O'Connor is one of the three initial promoters of the Riverside Exhibition which was a great success in its first year, 1963. With Mr. Louis Cicchini, whose idea it was to bring art into the everyday life of the school child through exhibits and a permanent collection in the school, Mrs. O'Connor and Mrs. Wendell Lehman of the PTA laid the ground plans for this unusual program.

The second Riverside show is to be held from April 13 to 18 and already Mrs. O'Conlnor is hard at work on the Contacts Committee. She is also working with a group known as the Arts Council of Princetun which is an organization, very much in the making but hoping to coordinate and sponsor activities among the arts in Princeton.

Most closely, she is associated with a painting class taught by Samuel Feinstein in her home every week. In the spring and fall, the class is taken outside for training in landseape but the emphasis is on still life and the pictures shown by Mrs. O'Connor are, for the most part, still life compositions done in this class and strongly in the influence of Mr. Feinstein's approach which he bases on color.

One Color against Another. "We learn more from apples and bottles," she says, "and from one color playing against another to give depth and forwardness." She has learned this lesson well, for her range of color is broad, and she contrasts cool tones with hot almost Mexican colors and her composition is full of "come and go."

The most pleasing canvases to us are the least complicated, such as "Tulips" done in pastel tones against orange. There is grace and charm in this one, and a gaiety and solidity in "Spring Wagon" which reminds garden-clubbers of the May Market with the red cart overflowing with pots and boxes of spring offerings for the ever-hopeful gardener.

This painting won a prize last year at the Annual Jaycee Art Show and was definitely one of the real accomplishments among the amateur paintings. In this year's Jaycees Exhibit (see below), Nancy O'Connor was again awarded the first for her "Still Life With Eggplant," a well organized picture with nice movement in its arrangement and with that lively combination of hot and cool color.

In this community, there is a lot of interest and activity in what people define as the plastic, visual manual or whatshave you arts and in this young artist we have someone who is involved in both the execution and the promotion of art in Princeton and has made a real contribution to it.

Jaycee Art Show. The fifth annual Art Exhibit of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was a great improvement over past years. For one thing, it came in out of the cold and the rain into the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School.

The endeavor of the Jaycees was to attract both amateur and professional work, and this year they proposed to hang the two groups separately. Prizes were given to amateur entries of which there were hundreds in all sorts of media, styles and skills. The professional showing was small but good. From comments heard, it is evident that the amateur exhibitors welcome a chance to see and study the professional work as well as to have a chance to show their own, and were disappointed not to see more.

Prize Winners. As mentioned above, first prize went to Nancy O'Connor for her "still life," a first prize to Helga Nergaard for her drawing, "Cormorant," and her woodcut, "Washington Square;" a first prize in sculpture for a wood sculpture, "Torso" by Judith Caplan, who won her own runner-up with Honorable Mention for a welded sculpture, "Seated Female." Other runners-up were Grenville Cuyler for an abstract construction called "Gargoyle" and George Terry Birch for a watercolor, "The Beach."

Honorable Mentions went to Ralph Moyer for a wood carving, "Peaceful Valley;" to Mettie Whipple for her painting, "Each man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main," to Edythe LaPaglia for her painting, "Still Life," and a charcoal drawing, also "Still Life;" to Theodora Waldron for a painting "Point Pleasant;" to Carl Sjostrom for his watercolor "Ten Years After;" to Thomas Hart for a pastel "Rehearsal" and to Janet Sifeley for her oil, "Canal House."

The Jaycees get A for effort. They made a better show which was attended by more than 1,000 visitors and they are the first to admit that they can improve the planning, selection and hanging of their show next year from what they've learned this year. It's an enterprise which deserves support, as is anything that seriously tries to stir up the community's art-consciousness.

DAR Show Saturday

A number of Princeton artists will exhibit in the Flower and Art Show planned for Saturday by the General David Forman Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the Old Barracks, Trenton. It will be open from 1 to 4.

Princetonians whose work will be on view include Miss Edith Margerum, H. Russell Butler Jr., Charles Rogers, Sol Asaro and Mrs. Carol Butler. Also shown will be the work of several artists, including Mrs. Ann Gross and William Hankinson of Pennington, whose work is ordinarily available through the Queenstown Craft Shop.

A feature of the exhibit will be the complete set of George Brawshaw's "Trenton Etchings." They reflect half a century of change in the city of Trenton.

Studio-on-the-Canal. Paintings by Mrs. Thomas J. Durell are being shown at the Studio-on-the-Canal through March 29 from 2 to 4 daily. Mrs. Durell, a former resident of Princeton, started painting with Rex Goreleigh in 1958 and after moving to Wildwood Crest, she continued studying with Nina Scull who is a member of the Fellowship of the Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Durell is a member of the Plastic Art Club for Women in Philadelphia and the Cape May Community Art League, exhibiting with both groups. Her main interest is in landscape and the pictures shown here include scenes from her travels: "Libyan Desert," "The Alps at Christmas," "Pyrenees from Montsarrat," etc. In April, Mrs. Durell will have an exhibit at the Beach Theatre in Cape May.

Upstairs Gallery. Princeton artist Edith Kogan is participating in a new group exhibition at the Upstairs Gallery in New Hope, Penna. The Gallery is a special activities group of the Solebury Co-operative Association and is beginning its fourth season with an Open House for the public on Saturday, from 12 to 6.

Golden Door Gallery. The Golden Door of New Hope, Penna. is moving its international collection of paintings, sculpture and graphics to new and larger quarters at the Playhouse Inn with an official opening scheduled for Saturday. Notable artists of the Delaware Valley will participate - Alden Wicks, Harry Rosin, Charles Child, John Folinsbee, Harry Leith-Ross, John Charry, Marcia Abramsohn, Louise Pershing, Martin Jackson, Hugh Laidman, Alexander Farnham, Jean Halter and Randolph Bye.

NEW MEANINGS FOR NEW BEINGS
by Richard Luecke
With engaging style and brilliant insight, Richard Luecke speaks of the troublesome fact that the world orders its life on the basis of one set of meanings while the church remains confused about its meanings — or lives on the basis of older, outworn meanings Ideally suited for group study in parishes and on campuses.

feller have suffered. To be declared candidates and to do the amount of politicking they did and then get beaten by a man 10,000 miles away who didn't do any campaigning of his own — it doesn't help them any.

Joseph Maleski, Trenton, construction worker: I couldn't have been more surprised. I thought Goldwater would get it. Lodge wasn't even around. I hadn't even heard of him entering the primary. I don't think this one primary is so important and I don't feel that Lodge will beat Goldwater and Rockefeller out in Oregon and California. I was surprised to see him win in New Hampshire but I wasn't disappointed he did.

SPORTS In Princeton

NO ONE CAN WAIT "Next Year" Welcome Now.

Despite Princeton's disappointing loss to Connecticut in the first round of the NCAA regional basketball finals at Raleigh last weekend, the coach, the team and the thousands of fans who back the Tigers are already thinking of the 1964-65 season. It is logical to expect that it may well be the brightest in Princeton history—even though it must top last year's 19-6 mark, this winters 20-and-0 and two straight Ivy League championships.

There are as many as five reasons, all of them working for the Tigers:

● One: Not a single senior was a starting member of the team that came down the stretch with nine straight victories in Ivy and NCAA play.

● Two: The nation's best collegiate basketball player will be back for his senior year and it is conceivable that he may be even better—partially because the entire team will have better balance and partially because of his own apparently limitless potential.

● Three: Greater depth on the squad will take some of the pressure off the varsity holdovers, a number of whom will show to greater advantage next winter with a year of experience under their belts.

● Four: Addition to the varsity ranks of what may be the best freshman team in Princeton history, possessing height, depth, shooting ability and, above all, speed.

● Five: A schedule that is not quite as rugged as this year's with its three holiday tournaments and 9,000 miles of travel. In their place, the Tigers will go to Missouri for a single game with St. Louis and then partake in the ECAC Holiday Tournament at Madison Square Garden. The only other tough road games outside the Ivy League will be against Villanova and Army.

Great Depth Available. There are only three seniors on the current Princeton squad, and only Captain Bill Howard, generally the first reserve to see action, fitted particularly into the picture. The other two are Rick Wright and Paul Kitch.

Bradley's two classmates who generally started with him, Don Roth and Don Niemann, will be on hand again next season, as will sophomores Don Rodenbach and Bob Haarlow. Of the four, Haarlow is most likely to retain a starting position, although Roth's unquestioned ability as a good ball handler and defensive player will guarantee frequent action for him. Actually, he prefers a reserve role which allows him spot duty such as he saw in his sophomore year.

At one point during the past winter, Bill van Breda Kolff told a Nassau Club luncheon meeting that his team next year might consist of "Bradley and four sophomores." While this may not actually turn out to be the case, it is entirely possible that such a combination would have the potential to win the Ivy League title. The Class of 1967, which won its last ten in a row and compiled a 12-2 record against a satisfactorily difficult schedule, may be good enough to keep the Tigers on top in the Ivy scramble after Bradley graduates.

Three players have the height and potential to give Bradley the vital assistance that he needs up front in corner-shooting and in rebounding. Among them is the tallest player in Princeton history, Rob Brown, who at 6-9 is an inch taller than Foster Cooper '53.

Like many a tall, thin man, Brown lacks the stamina to go 40 minutes of rugged basketball, but that condition will improve as he adds weight and strength. He can hit from the outside and, unlike many a tall man, runs well and is adept on defense.

Somewhat slow to round into form but credited with rapid improvement in the second half of the season, Ed Hummer may be the top freshman on a basis of potential ability. A high school All-American, he stands 6-6, rebounds very well and can drive beautifully for layups that sometimes are almost as spectacular as Bradley's. If he becomes consistently good, giving the Tigers a close-in threat that will make double-teaming Bradley suicide for the opposition, Princeton will have the one-two punch it lacked almost all this year.

Neither as tall as Brown nor as spectacular as Hummer at his best, 6-3 Bill Koch (pronounced "coke") is another front-court candidate whose steadiness will assure plenty of action for him. His 15-point average over the season was the team's best; he rebounds well and hits steadily from the corner.

Real speed comes to the varsity next year with the arrival on the scene of Gary Walters (5-10) and Chris Chimera (6-0.) Intriguingly, both are southpaws and their steady left-

By JOHN F. BERNARD

We hear that unusually heavy smokers are restless and irritable and often plagued by marital woes . . . that come spring women's hose will be available in flame, white jade and cafe Brazil . . . that the bicycle has been known variously as a swift-walker, a bone shaker, a dandy horse and a pedestrian curricle hobby horse since it was conceived 'way back in 1916 . . . that fireproof sheets and night-clothes for those who just have to smoke in bed, will be on the market soon . . .

Fireproof sheets notwithstanding, there seems to be no sure-proof prevention for fire. Adequate insurance is the only alternative. This applies to all other hazards as well. Make sure to see STURHAN, DICKENSON & BERNARD, 15 Chambers St., right away so that you are not one of those who gets caught short. Call 921-6880 for definite appointment.

SIX BOSTON BRAHMINS -- ALL IN BOTTLES

In addition to Cabots and Lowells and the like*, the fine, old name of S.S. PIERCE is one of Boston's most respected. With ample reason . . .

For one thing, no one (not even in Harvard Yard) is sure how to pronounce it . . . One group says "Purse," the other says "Peerce" . . . Both say they're right . . .

Anyway, as purveyors of superlative bottlings (and choicest viands), S.S. Pierce is thought by many to have no equal — in Boston and elsewhere . . .

So, whether you choose to pronounce it "Purse" or "Peerce," you'll be happy to know that we can offer you six of their magnificent own selections — and at a price which would please even the most conservative resident of Beacon Hill, or of Princeton.

PHS BASKETBALL COACH AND CAPTAIN: The tandem who will lead the 1964-65 Princeton High Basketball team are coach Tony Borzok and Pete Heiberger, newly-named captain. Heiberger, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heiberger, 100 Longview Drive, was center on this year's squad. In mid-season, he scored 40 points in two games for his best offensive effort. At 6-4, 175 pounds, Pete is ideally constructed to engage in athletics. He has also put his natural ability to work in football as an outstanding end and in track where he excels in the low and high hurdles. (Staff Photo) handed jumpshots are calculated to kill off the opposition's policy of sagging on Bradley in the belief that no one else on the floor for Princeton can hit.

It is the Walters-Chimera combine teaming with Bradley's feeds that will give Princeton greater fast-break possibilities next year than any previous Tiger quintet. A backcourt ballhawk of the Art Hyland school, Walters can dribble, steal and run the opposition crazy.

Chimera is a shade short of Walters on speed, but drives extremely well and ended the season as the best long-shot artist on the team, leading in point-production over the last five games. He, too, is adept as a ballhandler—any all-court press next season against the Tigers is likely to be punctured in short order.

Eddie Donovan, veteran freshman coach, had bench strength this winter, too. Al Adler, 6-3, started when Hummer did not and showed a good outside shot; 6-3 Jay Scribner knows his way around the front court, too. Of the two reserve back court players, Joe Callahan was all-State in New Jersey; Larry Lucchino, like Callahan, has a good enough outside shot so that a place on the varsity squad also seems likely for him.

That, of course, will be among van Breda Kolff's problems next year—the normal number for a workable traveling squad is 12, and that number will not accommodate all the varsity holdovers and all the promising sophomores. The affable Tiger coach has another problem, too, that of moulding and developing his players into the standout team already being forecast for Princeton.

It will, however, be a pleasurable pastime. No other coach in the nation will have Bill Bradley and what appears to be a strong supporting cast.

ZONE BEATS TIGERS

And "One-Man" Label Sticks. A tight zone defense that boxed out Bill Bradley, plus the renewed inability of any other Princeton player to take advantage of virtually uncontested outside shots, beat the Tigers at Raleigh Friday night. Connecticut's planned slow-down (which also upset Temple 53-48, in the first round of NCAA action) gave the U-Conns a 52-50 victory.

Connecticut's tactics were unavailing, however, against a team with the proper degree of balance. Whereas the Tigers could score but 50 points against the U-Conns in the entire game, Duke ran up a 62-27 lead at the half Saturday night and coasted to a 101-54 final.

The unusual season, which frequently saw Bradley score more than half his team's points, was climaxed by another weird statistic Friday: Princeton made 10 foul shots against Connecticut and all ten were by Bradley. No other Tiger player made one or was even awarded one in the close but lacklustre contest.

Princeton held a 28-27 halftime lead but the hot shooting that had characterized play against both Penn and VMI in the Palestra was gone. As the game drew to a close, Bradley began to press (he was no better than 6 for 15 on the night), making shots he might better have withheld in an effort to keep his team in the lead. The loser's team percentage was a routine 42%.

Connecticut had a 48-44 margin with two minutes to go. Bradley got a basket and two free throws and Bill Kingston a layup on a steal to keep Princeton even at 50-all. However, the U-Conns had the ball as the clock began to run out and threatened to hold on for a final shot.

Kingston had to foul to give the Tigers a chance, but Dom Perno made both. Princeton came down court with 15 seconds left and a chance to send the game into overtime.

It was all too obvious, however, that the shot would be Bradley's. Kingston fed him but he was triple-teamed and the ball was stolen by Perno, allowing the Yankee Conference champions to run out the clock.

Rally against Villanova. The Tigers ended the long season Saturday night as they had begun it—by losing to Villanova. The Wildcats, who went on to

Mrs. Constable Wins

Mrs. W. Pepper Constable of Rosedale Road won the United States senior squash racquets singles championship Friday at the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Mrs. Constable easily defeated Mrs. Baba Lewis of Boston in straight sets, 15-2, 15-5, 15-12. She is a former national champion.

become one of the East's top independents with a fine 21-3 record, topped the Orange and Black, 72-59, in Dillon Gym to open the season.

At Raleigh, Princeton was down, 42-30, at half-time but Bradley led a surge that saw it outscore the Mainliners, 16 to 3, in the first five minutes following the intermission. That made it 46-45, Princeton, and control seesawed thereafter until it was Villanova's turn to sizzle.

In the last seven minutes, the victors netted 15 points to 4 for Princeton, making it a 74-62 final. That was it—until next year.

MRS. KRAFT TO LECTURE

On Teaching Tennis. Mrs. Eve Kraft, Princeton YMCA tennis instructor, will participate in the 13th annual New Jersey Interscholastic Coaches Association Conference to be held March 27-28 at Rutgers University. She will lecture on "Group Teaching Methods."

"The Tennis Workbook," a basic instructional manual developed in the Princeton Tennis Program and published this winter, is the work of Mrs. Kraft. The U.S. Lawn Tennis Association has included it in its official publication list for use by junior development groups in the country.

Mrs. Kraft is in charge of organizing the YWCA tennis program for women and girls which is scheduled to start spring sessions April 13. This year there will be an evening class for working women, as well as classes for girls from the fourth grade through high school.

Additional information may be obtained from the YWCA's spring schedule or from Charlotte Christiansen at her Y office. Registrations for spring tennis classes will be held the first week in April.

BOWLING NOTES

Nassau League Lead Tied. A triple tie for first place in the Nassau Bowling League shows Thorne Pharmacy, Tiger Garage and Nassau Delicatessen deadlocked at 30 wins each. Next is Grover Lumber with 28.

Those who bowled games of 200 or over during competition in the league last week include Bill Kiefer, 245; Fred Lehnert, 223; Pete Ilsman, 213; Dick Edwards, 211, and Ernie Hunt, 206.

In the Princeton Three-Man Classic, Colonial Restaurant increased its lead over second-place Johnson Electric. Colonial now has 55½ wins, to 42 for Johnson, and Turney Motors is third with 36½.

High games for the week in the Three-Man Classic were Al Hibberd's 224 and Bill Dumble's 214. Larry Golden bowled a 202 and Joe Trani a 201.

Mercer Engine Co. 3 and Dutch Neck are once again tied for first in the Tri-County Firemen's League at 42 wins apiece. Next is Kingston with 38 wins.

Last week's leader in high single games bowled was Bud Reading with a 230. Two others topped the 200 mark. Elmer Wilson, 207, and Bill Whatley, 203.

Ralestrieri, with 38 wins, leads the Sportsmen by one game in the Princeton "B" League. In next position, Ivy Inn, The Key Shop and Jugtown are tied with 34 wins each.

"B" League high single game scorers last week were lead by Joe Baldino, who had a 222. Others: Mike Pinelli, 219; Frank Delnese, 215; Dan Tamasi, 207; Bill Dumble, 203; and Val Ranallo, Frank Maddalon and Fred Procaccini, all 200.

Woolworth's leads the Princeton Business Women's League with 16 wins. Jefferson Plumbing is in second place with 14.

Highest single game bowled last week in this league was a 203 by Lillian Burrough. Second highest was Emma Lohouses's 187.

PCD EXTENDS STREAK

To 34 In Hockey. A 5-2 victory over the Wissahickon School of Philadelphia gave Princeton Country Day School another undefeated season in hockey. The triumph extended to 34 the number of games played by the Blue and White without a defeat since 1961.

Wally Shew scored twice against Wissahickon, with Dave Battle, Whit Raymond and Bill Kehne each adding a goal. Lester Tibbals and Dick Vaughan are the coaches.

The PCD basketball team lost to Peddie, 71-35, for its worst defeat of the winter. Bruce Johnson scored 13 points for the losers.

DOGS GRADUATE

From Winter Classes. Graduation exercises held by the Princeton Dog Training Club at the end of its winter classes took place last week at Miss Fine's School gymnasium.

Don Mitchell of Mercerville was top scorer in the beginner's group when his Boxer took 197 out of a possible 200 points. A Cocker Spaniel owned by Mrs. Mercy Bruestle of Bearbrook Drive, Princeton Junction, placed second with 196 points.

In a run-off for third place, Mrs. David Blackburn of 214 Riverside Drive West and her German Shepherd won over Mrs. Sandra Kalajian, 141 Washington Road, and her Cocker. Both had scored 195 points.

Top scorers in the intermediate group were Mrs. Robert Savage, 228-B Marshall Street, and her Basset, 191; Don MacKellar, Trenton, and his Miniature Poodle, 184; Robert Savage, 228-B Marshall Street, and his Basset, 184; and Miss Mary Lou Petro, Trenton, and her German Shepherd, 172.

ID CARDS AVAILABLE

For County Golf Course. Identification cards for the 1964 season at the Mountain View Golf Course, West Trenton, are now available. Freeholder Richard J. Coffee, has announced. They may be purchased at the clubhouse.

Priced at $1, they will prevent delays when the playing season is at its height. Last year's cards will be honored until April 1.

PLAYOFF NEARS

In YMCA Industrial League. The first playoff games among the four top teams in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League will be held Tuesday evening, starting at 7 in the Princeton High School gymnasium.

With only one week remaining, it is a certainty that American Cyanamid (11-0), Educational Testing Service (9-3), Western Electric and Astro A (both 6-5) will fight it out for the crown. The remaining three league teams, Astro B, RCA and winless Hospital are too far back to gain a playoff berth.

Only one contest was played last week. In that, American Cyanamid kept its record

Bradley May Play Olympic Basketball Next October

There is a possibility that Princeton's Bill Bradley will play on the United States Olympic Basketball Team in Toyko next October.

The Tigers' All-American has been invited to the tryouts for the team, scheduled to be held April 2 to 4 at St. John's University, Jamaica, Queens. He is currently consulting University officials about the possibility of going to Japan while college is in session next Fall.

Normally held during the summer, the Games will be staged in October because the host nation, Japan, feels that month is its best from point of view of desirable temperature and lack of heavy precipitation. If he goes, Bradley would be back in time to begin practice for Princeton's season about November 1.

No one here doubts that Bradley will be selected for the Olympic team if he takes part in the tryouts. If the University grants him the necessary leave of absence, and Tel-Star is sufficiently advanced to make live television of the Games possible, Princeton's thousands of Bradley fans will feel that Christmas has come early in 1964.

clean by defeating Western Electric, 60-43. For three periods, the losers stayed in contention but in the final minutes they were not able to match the shooting of Bob Montgomery and Ray Zultansky who combined for 33 Cyranmid points.

In other scheduled games, Hospital forfeited to RCA and Astro B to ETS.

BLUES VS. BLACKS

Or, The Keystone Cops on Court. The memory of Mack Sennett will be recaptured Tuesday evening at 8 when the Borough and Township Police clash in their second annual Blue and Black Basketball Game at the Valley Road School gymnasium.

Last year's inaugural was attended by relatively few onlookers. This was a mistake.

It was a mistake because there is some genuine humor inherent in watching those round of the waist and short of wind trying to play a young man's, fast-moving game. But despite the limitations of dulled reflexes and lack of stamina, the first copper-contest was a good one and, surprisingly, highly exciting.

With more dogged determination than skill, the Borough chopped away at a commanding Township lead until it was either team's game to win in the final minutes of play. In the end, it was the Township's youth which prevailed over the Borough's height. The final: Blacks, 45, Blues, 42.

This year, the crowd is expected to swell. Since seating accommodations are limited, followers of the Blue and Blacks (so-named because the Borough's uniforms are blue, while those of the Township police are black) are urged to arrive early. Spectators will be asked to make a donation to the March of Dimes.

The Jugtown Delicatessen will donate a dime to the March of Dimes for every point scored by the Township team; the Carousel Luncheonette will do the same for every point tallied by the Borough. In addition, for every foul shot made by either team, the Rug Mart-Ivy Manor will donate 25 cents.

Rumors Are Rampant. Rumors are flying that Butch van Breda Kolff will coach the Blues and has guaranteed them a victory. "No comment" was the Blues' reply, when asked to confirm or deny the rumor that Bill Bradley had been sworn in as the Borough's newest member and issued Badge No. 42.

Still being considered by referees Frank Baldino and Van Skillman is Ptl. Harry Kahny's request to use his cycle to keep up with the fast-breaking blacks. Kahny, who is team captain, also pointed out that he is expecting a stand-out performance from Ptl. Ralph "Bradley" Procaccino. Said Harry, "After following Bill Bradley all over the country this season, he should have all of Bradley's moves down to perfection."

Woefully out of shape but expected to be ready to go by Tuesday are Chief Peter "Bermuda Shorts" McCrohan, Administrator Bob "Gunner" Mooney, Mayor Henry "Flash" Patterson, Engineer Tom "Digger" Cawley and Red "Notebook" Glover. Chief McCrohan laughed off rumors that Detectives Arthur Gallant and Bob McAvenia are still investigating last year's defeat for evidence of foul play. "Not so," he said. "We turned all our findings over to Bobby Kennedy months ago."

Expected to see extremely limited action is Skiteh "Where Do I Go to Give Up" Donald. Rounding out the Blue squad are Tom Procaccino, Art Jackson, John "Lots of Form" Bellow, Doug Watson, Jim "Fuzz" Koplíner and Art Gallant. "Shorty" McAvenia has been practicing his two-handed set shot and a final rumor has it that, if he perfects it in time, that will be the difference.

One cloud hangs over the Blues and it threatens to get bigger as game time approaches. The colorful blue pom-poms ordered for Mrs. Alice B. Schannel, magistrate's clerk and cheerleader for the Blues, have not arrived. Says Mrs. Schannel: "No pom-poms, no cheerleader."

Blacks Are Confident. For the long and the short of it as far as the Black's chances of winning go, one must ignore the long—the Township hasn't any—and concentrate on the short. In short, Joe Nini.

Nini, Township Administrator, will jump center for the Blacks. Should the Township find itself falling behind, Tony will be called on to do a little juggling. With his background in juggling tax points, changing a point here and there to guarantee a Township victory should be no much child's play, his squad claims.

It is unlikely that Tony will have to resort to anything underhanded, however. The Blacks are loaded with good shots in the person of Engineer Frank Quimby—high scorer last year—and Ptl. Harold Sweeney, who gives the impression he played the game well only a few years ago. Moreover, Ptl. Frank "Runner" Boccanfuso reportedly has his legs in shape, and unless the Blues show up with No. 42 these three alone will probably be more than they can handle.

Running interference will be Sgt. Mike Lisi and Ptl. Anthony Diaforli, and it is hard to imagine a more meaning pair. Also on hand will be Ptl. Frank "Florida-Bound" Cox, Ptl. Mike "Bumpy" Kopliner, Ptl. John Hammond and Officer Dave Potts.

Armed with this depth, the Blacks are not unduly alarmed over the report that Assistant Clerk Jack "Let Me Shoot" Prior has been slow rounding into shape. Jack, ever thorough, has requested that an oxygen tank be on hand.

Bradley Sets Four Records

While winning the Ivy Basketball League scoring race for the second year in a row, Bill Bradley set four records, raising to six the number he holds in the circuit.

His 464 points, good for first place over Yale's Rick Kaminsky with 357, are an Ivy mark, as is his single-game high of 51, set against Harvard. The All-American's 18 field goals in one game (also against Harvard) and 165 in a season also broke old Ivy marks.

As a sophomore, Bradley broke Ivy records when he made 21 free throws in a game (against Cornell) and 153 in one season. For the second straight year, he led Ivy League scoring in every department.

SENIOR Y FIVE WINS

In County Tournament. Led by John Barbour and Jim Wheeler, Princeton YMCA's senior high basketball team defeated Ewing and Hightstown last week on the Princeton High court to win the annual Mercer County Tournament. The junior high team was defeated, 38-32, by Ewing in the finals.

In topping Ewing, 75-23, and Hightstown, 56-44, the senior Y quintet won the title for the third consecutive year. The double win lengthened its string of consecutive victories to 19. Before being stopped in the finals, the junior team had tagged defeats on Lawrence and Hightstown.

SEASON ENDS

Girls' Basketball at PHS. Princeton High School's feminine basketball players brought the season to a successful close last Thursday defeating Notre Dame (Trenton), 33-27. The Jayvees beat Notre Dame, 12-9.

The varsity won seven out of nine games played during the season, and the jayvees three out of nine.

For the varsity, in the Notre Dame game, Mary Ann Cook was high scorer with ten. Sue Newcomer scored seven. Michael Hill and Bertie Stockton, six each; Breda Peterson three and Pat Gaynor, one.

Jayvee scorers were Anne McClenachan and Diane Holnback, six each.

MUSIC
In Princeton

MIXED RECEPTION

For Princeton Symphony. The Princeton Symphony Orchestra, Nicholas Harsanyi, conductor reached its season's three-quarters mark Monday night in McCarter Theatre in a program of predominantly 19th century French romantic music plus a 13 minute Fantasia on an "In Nomine" of Taverner by Peter Maxwell Davies. The conductor's wife, Janice Harsanyi, appeared as soloist in the second half of the program.

The evening opened with Gabriel Faure's music for the Maeterlinck play, "Pelleas et Melisande" which was first performed in 1898. The work itself is broken into four sections of pale tunefulness framed sometimes in pastel harmonies or ineffensive rhythmic agitation.

It lent itself to the ear in the mode of "sound track" music and simply does not survive without the theater for which it was written. When it stands alone it is dull and successful only in its monotony. To be sure, the orchestra was tastefully expressive with the little with which it had to work. A very strange "opener".

Composer Conducts. Peter Maxwell Davies, the composer of the Fantasia on the Tavorner "In Nomine," appeared as conductor of his own work. This piece gave the only orchestral excitement of the evening.

Mr. Davies prefaced his Fantasia by having the woodwinds play the Tavorner harmonization of "In Nomine". The Fantasia itself ensued, using to sonorous advantage the compositional elements of compound intervals, long swells, sustained brass clusters, bells and woodwind chortlings to give a solid contemporary expression of the cantus and of some of the Tavorner figurations. The compsner's harmonic, rhythmic and orchestral usages were clear and well laid out to give a very successful piece, well performed by the orchestra.

After intermission, Janice Harsanyi, soprano, appeared as soloist, the orchestra accompanying her in music of Berlioz, Debussy and Masseenet. The big piece was a half-hour song cycle of Berlioz, "Les Nuits D'Ete", settings of six love poems written by his friend, Gautier.

These songs kept cropping up in Berlioz' compositional life as he wrote them in the early 1830's, rewrote them for publication ten years later and after an interval of 19 years orchestrated them. Each of the six pieces is a complete poetic thought and a complete musical expression and the songs have very little relationship to each other when considered as cycle.

As a matter of fact, they do not make good continuity in the cycle form, with too much tempo sameness and too many climaxes. The music depends on agitation rather than speed for propulsion and in thirty minutes this can become a little wearing. Withal, orchestra and conductor accompanied the soloist with fine expression and the vocal lines served well to show the richness of Mrs. Harsanyi's lower voice and the power of her upper range.

Vocal Poise Noted. Mrs. Harsanyi's next offering was the "Air de Lia", the big aria from "L'Enfant Prodigue", Debussy's Prix de Rome winner. This is music from the young romantic Debussy, vogue of its period and seemed for all the world like a continuation of the Berlioz songs.

In both this and the concluding Massenet aria, "Il est Doux, Il est Bon" from "Heloidade," Janice Harsanyi must be complimented for her ableness in taking on one "heavy" after another. Both arias were sung well and given fine accompaniment. Janice Harsanyi's vocal poise puts an audience at ease and in a listening mood, something which many singers have trouble in doing.

The evening was a curious one. A good concert but faulty programming. The evening suffered from lack of Allegro music which caused an unfortunate dreariness.

The Princeton Symphony in the three programs thus far has acted in the role of accompanist for 80 per cent of the music which denies them the privilege of being a symphonic instrument and robs the orchestra of its power to say something for itself. Why call an orchestra a symphony orchestra if it plays no symphonies? Princeton has a good symphony orchestra and a good conductor. Why not have the symphony program feature the orchestra sometime?

HARSANYI TO DIRECT Tercentenary Music Fete. Nicholas Harsanyi has been named music director of the New Jersey Tercentenary Festival of Music by Dr. Lee H. Bristol, chairman. He is conductor of the Princeton and Trenton Symphonies.

Dr. Bristol also announced the appointment of a Festival committee. Those serving include Mrs. C. Reinhold Noyes and Mrs. Abram Spanel, co-chairmen; Mrs. Jackson Mardndell, Mrs. Alfred Hoyt, Mrs. John Davies, Mrs. Hibben Zeising, Mrs. Barklie Henry and Mrs. MacKenty Bryan.

The Festival will take place at Westminster Choir College from June 19 through July 5. Soloist for the opening night is Pianist Byron Janis, with the Tercentenary Festival Symphony conducted by Mr. Harsanyi. Other soloists to be featured in the series are violinists Joseph Fuchs and Erica Morini, sopranos Adele Addison and Janice Harsanyi, and pianist Charles Rosen.

Eugene Ormandy will direct performances of the Verdi Requiem on July 3 and 5, featuring vocal soloists, the Westminster Choir and the Festival Symphony.

Two concerts will be given by the Rotary School Chorus and Orchestra. The group is formed of some 300 high school singers and instrumentalists under the sponsorship of New Jersey Rotary.

The Festival Committee is preparing and mailing invitations to area residents, asking their support of the Festival. The invitation includes the opening night concert and succeeding Friday galas.

BENEFIT CONCERT SET By Wilberforce Choir. Sacred and secular music will be presented by the Wilberforce (Ohio) University Choir at 8:30 p.m. Monday in the Campus Center of Princeton Seminary. Proceeds will go to Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, Witherspoon Street.

The program includes "Words From the Cross" by DuBois; "Were You There?" by Burleigh; selections from two operas, Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" and Verdi's "Don Carlo," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Wilberforce Choir, one of the foremost choral ensembles in the country, was flown to New York City on November 25 to join the musical tribute in Madison Square Garden to the late President Kennedy. Founded in 1856, Wilberforce is the oldest Negro university in the United States.

Tickets are available at the PAHR office (WA 4-2966), Hinkson's, University Store and Male's Book Store.

TO PLAY STRAVINSKY At Woolworth Center. The Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs with orchestra will play Stravinsky's "Symphony of Psalms" at 5 Sunday in the Woolworth Center, Princeton University Campus.

The assisting pianists will be Mathilde McKenney and Stephen Prushin. Barbara Lewis is director.

All who wish to attend are asked to contact Mrs. MacKenty Bryan at the Center by Friday, WA 4-0453, between 2 and 5, so that arrangements may be made for copies of music and refreshments.

CHOIR COLLEGE HOST To Junior High Groups. A Junior High School Choir Festival is scheduled for Saturday, April 18, at Westminster Choir College. Co-sponsor of the festival is the New Jersey Music Educators Association.

Miss Pauline P. French, secretary to the association's board of directors, is chairman of the arrangements committee, assisted by Charles Higgins, vocal music director of Junior High School Three, Trenton, and Dr. Edward F. J. Eicher, professor of music education and director of the music education program at Westminster. Miss French is choral music director at Roosevelt Junior High, New Brunswick.

Each school will sing for ten minutes and is limited to 80 voices. Miss K. Elizabeth Ingalls, professor of music at Jersey City State College, will be the adjudicator. She has been chairman of the festival for the past ten years at the Jersey City campus, when it was sponsored by the Association alone.

Following the choir presentations, the Westminster Chapel Choir will sing, under the direction of Robert Simpson, and all the choirs will present Schubert's "Sanctus" with the Chapel Choir.

SYLVIA KIND TO PLAY Harpsichord Works. Sylvia Kind will perform works by 11 composers next Wednesday, March 25, as a benefit for the Princeton High School Choir Fund. The recital, sponsored by the Princeton Symphony, will be held in the High School auditorium at 8:30.

Miss Kind, former assistant to Herman Scherchen in Zurich, Switzerland, will cover 400 years in her harpsichord program, from the 16th century William Byrd to Honegger and Poulenc. Bach's "Toccata in D Major," Poulenc's "Suite in B" and Honegger's "Four Pieces for Harpsichord" will be included.

Other composers represented on the program will be Couperin, Rameau, Bull, Pasquini and Peter Mieg. Tickets to the recital are available at the University Store and McCarter Theatre.

TO GIVE PIANO RECITAL At The New School. Roger Grove, a student of David Kraehenbuehl, will give a piano recital at 8 p.m. Sunday at the New School of Music Study, 353 Nassau Street.

Mr. Grove will play the Haydn Sonata in C major, Opus 79; Schumann's "Kreisleriana," the E major French Suite of Bach, and five Debussy preludes.

The holder of bachelor and master of music degrees in piano from the University of Tulsa, Mr. Grove is completing his second year of piano and piano pedagogy study in the New York School's professional department.

MUSIC CLUB TO MEET Next Wednesday. The Princeton Music Club will meet at 8:30 p.m. next Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nichols, 28 Longview Drive.

The program includes two sonatas by Telemann and C.E.P. Bach, played by Vicky Pehta, violin; Mable Rugg, flute, and Marian Rian, piano. Joan Luecke, coloratura soprano, will sing three Rossini songs, accompanied by James Waters.

Roger McKinney, clarinet, and Shirley Batchelder, piano, will play "Fantasy Pieces" by Schumann. Assisting hostesses are Mrs. Eugene Pacsu and Mrs. Donald Armstrong.

SERIES ANNOUNCED By East Brunswick Group. The 1964-65 concert series of the East Brunswick Concert Association has been announced by Mrs. Joseph Goldsmith, program chairman.

The Association's fifth season will open in November, featuring baritone George London of the Metropolitan Opera. Mr. London was recently acclaimed in Russia for his performance in the title role of "Boris Godunov."

Also on the schedule are pianist Frank Glazer in January; and the Hungarian Ballet's "Bihari" group in March. This unit of seven dancers and seven musicians will perform classical ballet and Hungarian folk dances.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO HOLD PRAYER VIGIL

Far Civil Rights Bill. A "watch for peace and justice" will be kept in Princeton churches until the United States Senate acts on the Civil Rights Bill.

Sponsored by the Princeton Pastors' Association, the vigil begins at noon Monday in the Niles Chapel of First Presbyterian Church. On Monday, March 30, the vigil will be kept at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church for a week. The vigil will then move, if necessary, to Princeton Methodist Church, Witherspoon Presbyterian, Trinity and First Baptist, in succession.

"We propose to keep this thing going as long as the Senate is in session," said the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears Jr. of Trinity, president of the Pastors Association.

The vigil is being directed by the Association's steering committee: the Rev. Dr. Richard Luecke of Mesiah Lutheran, the Rev. Charles Newbury, All Saints' Chapel; the Rev. Albert D. Tyson Jr., Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Association vice-president; the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, Witherspoon Presbyterian, the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel of First Presbyterian, and Dr. Spears.

Concern Is Deep. "Many citizens," the Pastors' Association said in a formal statement Tuesday, "are deeply concerned over the debate about the civil rights bill now being conducted on the floor of the Senate.

"While they recognize the necessity for full debate of such an important issue and the delicate balance that is required between the will of the majority and the rights of the minority in our parliamentary procedures, they feel that the country has a right to expect pertinent discussion and prompt action in this critical area of our national life."

The church doors will be open for prayer whenever the Senate is in session and for as long as the filibuster continues. "We'll be open day and night, if necessary," Dr. Spears said. "We are assuming that the Senate will adjourn on Sundays, but if not, we'll be open Sunday afternoon."

He said that the pastors are being asked "to come on one specific day to supply the backbone of that day." There will be a brief period of conducted prayers every hour on the hour and appropriate reading material for meditation.

The Pastors' Association will also supply forms and suggestions for letters to senators, together with names and addresses of the majority and minority leaders, including Senator Hubert Humphrey, floor manager of the civil rights bill, and Senator Richard Russell, opposition leader.

"We don't know of any other churches where this is being done," Dr. Speers added, "but we hope it will be."

TRINITY'S GRATITUDE: The Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears Jr., rector of Trinity Episcopal Parish, stands at the doorway of the "Chapel of Christian Unity" now under construction at the church in the former baptistry. The spontaneous gifts from Princeton congregations following Trinity's fire on February 13, 1963, have been set aside for the chapel by the appreciative parish. Plans include an entrance placque and stained glass windows, now being designed by the Henry Willet studio, Philadelphia. Regular services with prayers for Christian unity, will be held in the chapel when it opens in May.

HOLY WEEK BEGINS

With Palm Sunday Rites. This Sunday is Palm Sunday, the start of Holy Week for the Christian Church.

It commemorates Christ's palm-strewn entry into Jerusalem and the significant events leading to the Last Supper, Calvary and to the Resurrection on Easter. Palms will be blessed and palm fronds given to worshipers in many of the churches. Special musical programs are planned.

At Trinity. After a lapse of more than a year, members of Trinity Church will worship in the restored sanctuary. Services have been held in Pierce Hall since the church was gutted by fire in February 1963. A "Service of Re-Entry" was conducted this Wednesday evening by the rector, Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears Jr.

On Palm Sunday, there will be Holy Communion and Blessing of Palms at 8 a.m., Eucharist and sermon at 9 and 11, and a service of lessons and Holy Week music at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Meisel Preaching. At First Presbyterian Church, worship services will be held at 9:30 and 11, with the sacrament of infant baptism at both services.

"Against The Odds," is the sermon topic of the Rev. Dr. Donald M. Meisel, pastor. He will also conduct the Maundy Thursday service in the Community Lenten Worship series at 12:10 p.m. this Thursday in Niles Chapel at the church.

Buxtehude Cantata. The choir of Lutheran Church of the Messiah will sing the D. Buxtehude cantata "Aperite Mihi Portas" at the 9 and 11 a.m. services under the direction of Robert Rooks. The Rev. Dr. Richard Luecke will give the sermon.

During Holy Week, the church will observe Holy Communion at 7 p.m. on Maundy Thursday, a children's Tenebrae devotion at 11 a.m. Good Friday, and a congregational Tenebrae service at 8 p.m.

Two Sermons. The Rev. Charles W. Marker of Princeton Methodist Church, who not long ago instituted special sermons for children in the morning worship service, will preach at 11. His Palm Sunday topic for the children is "How To Keep Your Shoes Clean," and for the adults, "On Not Being Disappointed in Jesus."

On Maundy Thursday, the choir will provide special music for the 8 p.m. service of Holy Communion. The congregation will join the community worship at Trinity on Good Friday.

Missionary. The Rev. R. Arthur Mathews, a former missionary to China now serving as regional director of the Overseas Missionary Fellowship, will preach at 11 on Palm Sunday at Westerly Road Church. The Rev. Edward H. Morgan, pastor, has chosen the topic "When Christ Comes In" for his sermon at the 7:30 p.m. worship service.

Ordination. At Kingston Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Clarence K. Brixey will preach on "Victory Over Misunderstanding" at the 11 a.m. service. Samuel Seah, a member of the congregation, will be ordained by the Presbytery of New Brunswick at 8 p.m. A reception will follow.

The choir will present portions from Bach's "St. Matthew's Passion" at the 8 p.m. communion service on Maundy Thursday. At the 8 p.m. Good Friday service, the choir will sing portions from Handel's "Messiah."

Novelist To Speak. Unitarians will hear writer Ralph Ellison at 11 on Palm Sunday discuss "American Fiction and the Moral Consciousness." Mr. Ellison is the author of "The Invisible Man," a novel of Negro life which won the National Book Award in 1952. He is currently writer-in-residence at Rutgers University.

Children's Play. "The Way of Love" will be the sermon topic of the Rev. Walter P. Carvin, minister at Princeton Baptist Church, Penns Neck. The church school children will present a play, "The Magdalene" at 7:30 p. m. On Good Friday, there will be a special service for the children at 10 a.m.

150 Voices. The four choirs of Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church will combine to present at 7 p.m. a Palm Sunday chorale entitled "The Easter Story." Vernon Bousheil will conduct. At the 11 a.m. worship service, the Rev. H. Dana Fearon will give the sermon "Sinners Jesus Knows: The Bitter."

Union Service. Members of First Baptist and Calvary Baptist Churches will hold a union service, observing the Lord's Supper and Tenebrae at 8 p.m. on Maundy Thursday at Calvary Baptist. Laymen from both churches will read from the scriptures during the extinguishing of lights.

Holy Week Series. The Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of Witherspoon Presbyterian will preach on the topic "The Social Meaning of Palm Sunday." During Holy Week, he will conduct services from 8 to 8:45 p.m. Titles for the series are: "What Makes A Saint?" "Unless God . . . Do Something," "And Bother Us No More," "Suffering and Death," and "Death in Chains."

Consecration. The new sanctuary of Hopewell Methodist Church will be consecrated at 2:30 p.m. this Sunday. The Rev. Dr. Alexander K. Smith, assistant to Bishop Fred Corson, will preach, and the Rev. Dr. George Propert, Trenton district superintendent, will be consecrator. Ground for the new church was broken on March 24 of last year.

Obituaries

Dr. John Dunlop, 87, of 180 Mercer Street, died March 15 at his home. An orthopedic surgeon for over 50 years, he moved to Princeton upon retirement in 1953 from Pasadena, Calif. He was born in Washington, D. C., and graduated from Princeton University in 1898 and Johns Hopkins Medical School in 1902.

Among his many contributions to orthopedic surgery were "Dunlop's Traction," a method of using traction for children's fractured elbows, and the modern treatment of spine fractures. He served his internship at Union Protestant Infirmary, Baltimore, and on the staffs of Carney Hospital and Children's Hospital, Boston.

Dr Dunlop was professor of orthopedic surgery at Georgetown University, Washington, where he had his private practice, and served on the staffs of the University Hospital and Children's Hospital. During World War I, he was a major in the Medical Reserve Corps.

Following his Army service, he moved to Pasadena, where he was chief of the fracture division at Los Angeles County Hospital, and chief of orthopedics at Huntington Memorial Hospital, as well as a staff member of Children's Hospital, Olive View Sanitarium and St. Luke's Hospital. He was associate clinical professor at the University of Southern California.

A Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, Dr. Dunlop was vice-president of the American Orthopedic Association in 1926, chairman of the orthopedic section of the American Medical Association in 1936 and president of the Western Surgical Association in 1939. He was a member of the California Medical Society, the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, the Los Angeles Surgical Club and Medical Society and the Inter-Urban Orthopedic Club.

He was a member of the Nassau Club in Princeton. Surviving are his wife, Gertrude Dunlop; two daughters, Mrs Elizabeth Schuyler Mellon of Pasadena, and Miss Helen Dunlop of New York; and two grandsons, John D. Mellon and Peter S. Mellon.

A memorial service will be held this Friday at 4 in the Marquand Transcept of the Princeton University Chapel.

Mrs. Edith Mershon Baldwin, 84, of 20 Spruce Street, died March 11 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness. She was the wife of Edward V. Baldwin.

A life-long resident of Princeton, Mrs. Baldwin owned and operated the Little Hosiery Shop for 16 years prior to her retirement in 1952.

Also surviving are several nieces and nephews.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of Second Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Jessie F. Beiswenger, 50, of Caracas, Venezuela, formerly of Princeton, died March 14 in Pittsburgh after a long illness. She was the wife of Lewis W. Beiswenger.

Born in Bathgate, Scotland, Mrs. Beiswenger was an alumnae of the Helene Fuld Hospital School of Nursing. She was a member of the Daughters of Scotia, Thistle Lodge No. 220, and the Princeton Chapter 91, Order of the Eastern Star.

Also surviving are a daughter, Nancy F. of Caracas; her mother, Mrs. Gertrude W. Fraser of Princeton, and a sister, Mrs. R. Birchall Kimble of Princeton.

The funeral was held in Princeton; interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Carden R. McLean, 44, of 11 Hendrickson Road, Lawrenceville, died suddenly March 12 in Dover, Del. He was the husband of Mrs. Madeleine S. McLean.

A Lawrenceville resident for the past two years, Mr. McLean was a sales representative for Howe Folding Furniture Company, New York City.

Mr. McLean was a graduate of the Hotchkiss School and Yale University. He was a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserves serving in World War II and the Korean War.

Also surviving are a son, Alick McD. McLean; two daughters, Lorna R. and Susan S.; his parents, Alick and Ruth S. McLean of Florida, and two sisters, Mrs. Susan Eldredge of Darien, Conn., and Mrs. Pat Powell of Chevy Chase, Md.

The service was held in the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, the Rev. H. Dana Pearson officiating. Memorial gifts may be sent to Belchertown State School, Belchertown, Mass.

Miss Lida T. Priest, 90, of 34 Littlebrook Road, died March 14 in the El Mar Nursing Home. She was active in the formation of the Princeton Unitarian Church.

Miss Priest was born in Hartford, Conn., and was a graduate of Columbia Teachers College. She taught for several years in settlement houses in New York's lower east side, later teaching in the Duluth, Minn., school system. On retirement, she joined the family of her niece, Mrs. Rene A. Braden, living in Hopewell and, more recently, in Princeton.

Also surviving a sister, Mrs. Perry Thompson.

A memorial service will be held at 10 a.m. this Saturday in the Unitarian Church. In lieu of flowers, memorial gifts may be sent to the Unitarian Church of Princeton for church development.

Edward T. Booth, 73, of Sag Harbor, L. I., N. Y., died March 13 at Southampton Hospital, Southampton, N. Y. A former Princeton resident, he was the father of Mrs. John O. Green of Edgerstoune Road and had formerly lived here.

Mr. Booth, born in Bergen Point, N. J., was educated at the Hill School, Yale College and the University of Wisconsin. An ambulance driver with the Yale Mobile Hospital unit during World War I, he traveled and worked in Europe after the war.

In later years, Mr. Booth combined a career in farming and writing. He maintained a citrus grove in Florida and bred Cheviot sheep in New York state. He was the author of "God Made the Country" and "Country Life in America," both published by Knopf.

Also surviving are a sister, Miss Louise Booth of Plainfield, another daughter, Mrs. B. A. Strait of Plainfield, seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Burial was at Oakland Cemetery, Sag Harbor.

OLDER HOUSE
FOR YOUNGER COUPLE

This two-story clapboard has a solidity and maturity that is hard to come by for people on a limited housing budget. There is space aplenty for a family starting out; entrance hall, living room, dining room, study, large kitchen, 3 double bedrooms, big bath, full attic & basement, side porch and enclosed back porch. The house also offers potential for imaginative decorators and do-it-yourselfers. Along with all this comes a nice deep lot, prettily planted, enhanced by big trees and on a thoroughly pleasant Lawrenceville street. $25,000

A Public Expression of Thanks

We'd like to express our very deepest gratitude and sincerest thanks to the men of the police force and fire department of Princeton and the Princeton First Aid and Resene Squad for the work they did in combating the fire on our premises.

Because they are so well-trained and so well-organized, and so fast, they were able to keep damage to a minimum, and we are happy to say—we'll be open for business as usual, this Thursday morning, March 19.

Again . . . . our deepest thanks!

CHARMING . . . this excellent home has living room, dining room, den, nice kitchen with lots of storage, powder room, 3 bedrooms, tiled bath. On a fine half-acre close to the Shopping Center and schools. $31,500

BEAUTIFUL COLONIAL . . . in one of our nicest hilltop residential areas, and nestled among beautiful trees, this new house has entrance hall, living room with fireplace, a vast screened porch, dining room, study with bookshelves, powder room. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. 2-car garage. Waiting for you to decorate in your favorite color scheme. $55,000

CUSTOM-BUILT . . . all the niceties of construction that these words convey are quickly apparent as soon as you enter this fine residence. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, study, playroom, 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, 2-car garage. On a lovely lot with beautiful trees in the quiet seclusion of Riverside. $52,500

SYLVAN POOL . . . this is only one of the advantages of this excellent home. Entrance hall, family room with fireplace, study living room, kitchen with dishwasher, 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths. Extensively and expensively landscaped. $49,900

STUART HILL . . . this is the year to build, and in these beautiful woods, off the Great Road, your two acres are waiting for the architect of your choice. Adjoining the new Stuart Country Day School, and close to where the other new private schools will be built, this new residential community offers more, perhaps, than any other in the Princeton area. Water, sewer and all utilities already installed, of course.
Prices on request.

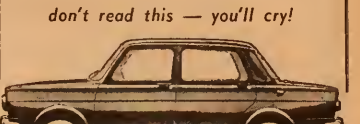
If you just bought an economy car, don't read this — you'll cry!


Chrysler's all-new economy car,
SIMCA 1000
*HERE ARE THE FACTS:
Chrysler Motors Corporation warrants all of the following vital parts of the Simca 1000 for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at an Authorized Simca Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, Trans-Axle parts and rear wheel bearings.
HERE'S ALL YOU MUST DO: Give your car this normal care—change engine oil and re-torque the cylinder head at first 600 miles and thereafter change engine oil every 3 months or every 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; clean oil separator every 6 months (spring and fall); clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and clean the crankcase ventilator valve oil filler cap and change Trans-Axle lubricant every 6 months, or 8,000 miles, whichever comes first; AND every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to an Authorized Simca Dealer or other Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

KISMET

Fate has decreed it; this sparkling one-story contemporary was made just for you. Irresistibly clean lines set-off lush interiors; and an enticing wooded lot provides just the background for a gem of a swimming pool. Of rooms, there are few (living, dining, kitchen, three bedrooms, and two baths), but each is infused with its own special magic. Touches of walnut paneling, Venetian glass tiling, and a unique lighting system give the house its sumptuous atmosphere. Also, from a practical standpoint, it offers all manner of intriguing mechanical contrivances for your comfort. For someone with your discernment and perfect taste, it's a natural choice, so don't forget it; let us lead you to the end of your rainbow.

(Bring your pot of gold-- or $59,500 of it anyway.)
